

CZECH CRISIS AT 'EXPLOSION' POINT

S. F. Pickets, Clerks Battle

STORE HEAD IS SLUGGED

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 9.—(UP)—Violent fist fighting broke out today among pickets and employees at the Emporium, one of the city's largest stores, at the A. F. of L. retail clerks strike against 35 department stores went into its third day without prospect of settlement.

While a crowd of 1000 onlookers milled around the fighters and nearly blocked traffic on Market street, pickets and clerks returning to work exchanged blows in a sidewalk that developed into a free for all. Many of the combatants were women.

Quell Riots
Mounted policemen rode through the crowd as the fight reached its pitch and quelled the disturbance.

Hans Horn, head of the Emporium's garment department, emerged from the fighting with cuts on his face and a bloody nose. He said two men slugged him. Two other men were knocked to the sidewalk.

A second fight broke out a few minutes later at another Market street entrance of the Emporium. Police quickly stopped it and arrested a picket, William McCann, 29, on a charge of refusing to move on.

Police also arrested Charles B. Silcox, a longshoreman.

"I just happened to be passing when someone took a poke at me. I guess he was swinging at someone else. I didn't do the slugging," Silcox said.

Officers said both fights began when store executives and escorts took salesgirls to work through the picket line.

"One fist shot out, then a dozen more and pretty soon everyone was going at it," one officer said.

The police department had been fully prepared for emergencies when the Market Street and triangular district department stores opened today. More than 300 police, augmented by numerous plain clothesmen, were stationed at strategic points in the shopping area.

To quell the fighting, a force of patrolmen cleared the way for the mounted police and behind them came a group of police radio cars.

Stores Open
All the strike affected stores except the Whitehouse—which closed in observance of Admission Day—opened today and reported "fairly normal" business. The stores announced they were bringing employees through the picket lines in two shifts—the first at 9:30 a. m. and the second at 11:30 a. m.

Mayor Angelo Rossi meantime arranged to confer with the retailers council policy committee in a desperate attempt to bring the warring groups together for settlement of the strike, called on the issues of preferential hiring and storewide seniority.

Seeks To Break River Record

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 9.—(UP)—Edward Koenig, St. Louis millionaire, said today his river steamer, City of St. Louis, would challenge the New Orleans-St. Louis record of the Robert E. Lee next spring even if he is forced to run against time.

Preliminary arrangements had been made for a race up the Mississippi river between the coal burning City of St. Louis and the Delta Queen, oil burning pride of the Sacramento river in California.

Koenig had offered to bet $10,000 on his boat but raised the ante to $25,000 today when informed that W. P. Dwyer, president of the Sacramento River Lines, which owns the Delta Queen indicated that he did not care to ship his boat from the Pacific coast through the Panama canal to New Orleans.

Rancher Jailed For Dynamiting

SAN JOSE, Sept. 9.—(UP)—Lorenzo Cerutti, 50-year-old Milpitas rancher, today faced a prison term of from one year to life imprisonment for dynamiting the Mountain View branch of the Bank of America on August 19.

Appearing before Judge Charles Davidson yesterday, Cerutti pleaded guilty but said he felt himself "justified" in his action. He would tell his story to the court Monday before sentence is passed, he said.

There were no casualties in the blast that wrecked the bank building and shattered store windows in the nearby business district. Cerutti said after his arrest that he had bombed the building because the bank had foreclosed on his property when he failed to meet a $6000 loan.

Europe Gold Sent To U. S.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(UP)—The heaviest influx of foreign gold into the United States from war-jittery Europe since Oct. 9, 1936, was received in the week ended Sept. 2, the commerce department reported today.

Gold imports in the week ended Sept. 2 totaled $37,769,152, adding to the already record-breaking monetary gold holdings of the United States, which stood at more than $13,200,000,000.

This government's gold reserves now are in excess of 55 per cent of the total world monetary gold holdings.

Of the total gold inflow, the United Kingdom provided the greatest share, receipts from that country totaling $68,633,500.

Another large shipper was Japan, with $5,873,946.

The gold outflow amounted to $2729.

Silver imports in the week ended Sept. 2 amounted to $1,316,756, while silver exports totaled $36,988.

As incoming gold is purchased by the treasury it is shipped to Fort Knox, Ky., and other gold vaults of the government.

LABOR RACKETEERS DEFY GRAND JURORS

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 9.—(UP)—Labor racketeers defied the county grand jury investigating terrorism in Kansas City today by tossing a bomb into a drug store less than 12 hours after the jury had returned true bills indicting 50 persons.

The dynamite bomb, thrown into the rear of a drug store in a southside residential district, exploded with such force that persons in the vicinity were thrown from their beds. Two buildings adjacent to the drug store were damaged. Plate glass windows in several store buildings and windows in nearby homes were shattered.

Started Campaign
It was the widespread series of bombings and window breaking earlier this year which prompted a civic campaign against the labor racketeers and the subsequent calling of the grand jury which returned its indictments yesterday.

Shannon C. Douglas, foreman of the jury, said it was readily apparent from evidence that honest union labor was being intimidated, thwarted, and subjected to physical violence by a group of self-styled "labor leaders" whose only interest was to enrich themselves.

A. J. Purdome, chief deputy sheriff, said he had not yet received capias warrants for the 50 persons named in the 19 indictments, and that he could not proceed with arrests until the warrants were sent to his office.

The only person indicted whose name was disclosed was W. E. (Wally) Mahan, head of the Retail Clerks International Protective Association, a union which was particularly active in drug and grocery stores. Although the proprietors of the store bombed today had not reported any labor trouble, Pat Hughes, owner of the building, told police that previously he had been "intimidated."

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 9.—(UP)—A coroner's jury today exonerated Mildred Gaydon, brunet night club girl, or blame in the death of the Count of Covadonga, her titled companion fatally injured when Miss Gaydon's car struck a light pole Tuesday.

The jury's verdict, returned to Justice of the Peace Thomas S. Ferguson after an hour's testimony, eliminated a technical manslaughter charge which was filed against Miss Gaydon pending the inquest.

Free Driver In Fatal Crash

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 9.—(UP)—A coroner's jury today exonerated Mildred Gaydon, brunet night club girl, or blame in the death of the Count of Covadonga, her titled companion fatally injured when Miss Gaydon's car struck a light pole Tuesday.

The jury's verdict, returned to Justice of the Peace Thomas S. Ferguson after an hour's testimony, eliminated a technical manslaughter charge which was filed against Miss Gaydon pending the inquest.

TRAFFIC ACCIDENT FATAL TO SAILOR

C. A. Coleman, 21-year-old sailor from the USS Oklahoma, is Orange county's 47th traffic victim of 1938, word from the Navy's hospital ship Relief, anchored at San Pedro, revealed today.

Coleman died from skull fracture and internal injuries on the ship after being transferred there from Santa Ana Valley hospital Tuesday.

He was injured last Sunday at 3:30 p. m. when a car driven by L. G. Halleck, also a sailor from the USS Oklahoma, collided with one operated by Robert Burlingame, 22, Los Angeles, at 14th street and Ocean boulevard, Huntington Beach.

Halleck and Burlingame escaped injury but four other persons riding with Burlingame, were injured in the mishap. They are Mike Ferrulli, 21, Dorothy Gardner, 18; Alex Amanden, 19, and Kathleen Burlingame, 19, all of Los Angeles.

At the same time last year, 65 persons had been killed in county traffic.

Ex-Convict Admits Slaying

CHICAGO, Sept. 9.—(UP)—William Frank Raab, 38, college graduate, ex-convict and one time mobster told police early today that he had killed his sweetheart, Marie Marie Lamont, 28, a convent reared night club hostess, because she had pleaded with him to kill her.

"She was always nagging me about the way we were living," he said, "and wanted me to do something about it. I loved her and she loved me, but I didn't see any way we could get together. Tuesday morning we quarreled. I choked her with my bare hands during a fit of passion."

A maid found Mrs. Lamont's body, semi-nude, on a bed in Raab's hotel room Wednesday noon. Raab was found yesterday lying on the bank of a park lagoon, the lower half of his body submerged in water. Police said he was under the influence of drugs when found and believed he had attempted to take his life and changed his mind.

Corrigan Visits Arizona Cities

PHOENIX, Ariz., Sept. 9.—(UP)—Douglas Corrigan, who made a "mistake" in his flying directions and thereby achieved world fame will spend today in Arizona before pushing on tomorrow to the Pacific coast.

He is scheduled to land the $900 "crate" that carried him across the ocean to Ireland at Tucson at noon and then come to Phoenix later for an overnight stop.

Ouster Is Threatened

PORT ARTHUR, Tex., Sept. 9.—(UP)—Rep. Martin Dies, D., Tex., chairman of the house committee investigating un-American activities, asserted today that Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins had failed to "enforce the law" for not deporting Harry Bridges, west coast Committee for Industrial Organization leader.

Reveals Plans
Dies stated that he planned to start impeachment proceedings against Miss Perkins unless she took immediate action against Bridges. Dies could introduce a resolution in the house calling for an investigation. An impeachment trial would be heard in the Senate with members of the house presenting the evidence.

"Secretary Perkins' own records show that Bridges is a Communist," Dies said. "They show that he has conspired riots and terrorism and that he is deportable."

"It is up to her to enforce the law like any other government official."

JAPANESE MASS FOR NEW HANKOW DRIVE

SHANGHAI, Sept. 9.—(UP)—Japanese military officials announced today that they were opening the greatest unified offensive of the China war in an effort to capture Hankow before the end of September.

Coincidentally, it was said in reliable quarters that Japanese were considering an immediate invasion of South China—where British interests are greatest—in event the main Chinese defense army escapes annihilation at Hankow.

New Troops
Japanese, who had been believed likely to end their conquest for the time being if they capture Hankow, were said to have abandoned hope that they could win over influential Hankow or Canton commercial or political leaders after seizing the provisional capital.

Japanese dispatches from the north reported the arrival of 30,000 troops from Japan to aid in a drive across the Yellow river toward Sian.

Chinese reports from Hankow claimed successful counter blows against the Japanese but it was said that the roar of Japanese guns could be heard by persons in Hankow.

Reinforced Japanese columns of infantry, artillery and air raiders advanced along three highways on the provisional capital.

Seek Masked Stage Bandits

GLOBE, Ariz., Sept. 9.—Search for two highwaymen who donned masks and flourished guns in old-fashioned western style in robbing a U. S. mail stage near Taylor, Ariz., turned to the mountainous Globe district today.

Sheriff Charles Byrne said he had an "important" lead in the hunt. He said he believed the two bandits had switched to another automobile after abandoning the old sedan used to block the stage in a narrow canyon at Bull Hollow.

The total of the robbers' loot was fixed at $22,250 by H. H. Smith, postal inspector, who investigated for the government. It was learned that $17,600 in pay-roll checks consigned to the Fort Apache Indian reservation was not touched.

COMMITTEE HEAD CALLS FOR REPORTS ON LEGION DRIVE

"Calling all reports. Calling all reports." This was the all-important broadcast that went out today from the Register-Legion Drum Corps Convention Fund Committee headquarters.

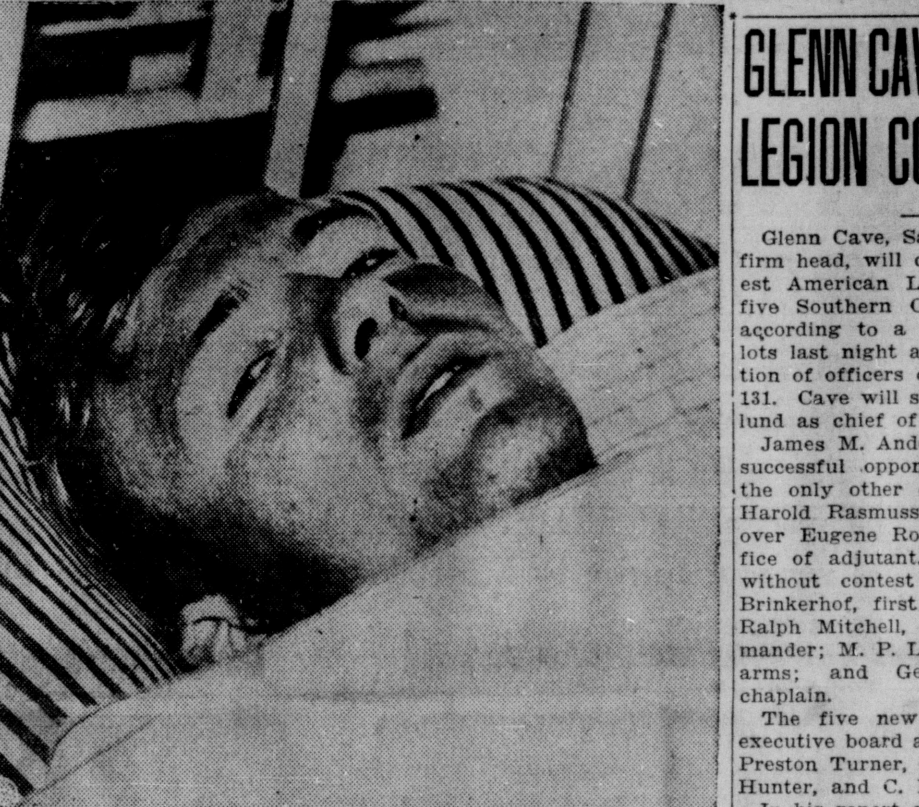

It was directed at the scores of workers in the big Register-Legion fund drive who have obtained signed order blanks, but have not yet reported their successes at offices of the fund in The Register building at Third and Sycamore streets in Santa Ana.

With less than a week before its close, the unusually enthusiastic drive is expected to gather great momentum in the last few days of its campaign to "go over the top" in raising $1200 "to put Santa Ana and Orange county on the map in a big way at the National convention of the American Legion opening a week from Monday in Los Angeles."

Marion Dodder, chairman of the fund committee, Harold Brown, business manager of the Santa Ana Drum and Bugle Corps, and other prominent local and county leaders of the legion, this morning envisioned the impressive appearance of the crack corps in the big parade, in the national competition to be engaged in conjunction with the great conclave.

"The Register-Legion drive will be of great assistance to the corps because it is through this means that we will be able to purchase the (Continued On Page 6, Column 1)

Rescued After 72 Hours In S. F. Bay

Holger Nelson, 18-year-old Sea Scout of Redwood, City, Calif., is shown in the upper picture as he was carried ashore by Coast guardsmen after being rescued from waters of San Francisco Bay where he clung to the bottom of a small overturned sloop for 72 hours. His four companions were drowned—three when the boat overturned in a sudden gust of wind, and the fourth after clinging to the sloop's mast for several hours. In the picture immediately above, young Nelson is pictured in an Oakland hospital where he is said to be recovering from the effects of 72 hours in the water. He was delicious and semi-conscious when rescued by the Coast Guardsmen.

LONE SURVIVOR TELLS HOW FOUR COMPANIONS DROWNED

ALAMEDA, Sept. 9.—(UP)—One boy was alive today to tell of the tragic ending of a holiday cruise by five Redwood City Sea Scouts on San Francisco Bay.

Almost delirious from the effect of clinging to the wreckage of the sloop Marauder for 72 hours, Holger Nelson, 18, was rescued by a coast guard boat and taken to Alameda county emergency hospital.

There he told how his four companions—Everett Cole, 18, Floyd Hattley, 19, Stanley Norstrum, 19, and Howard Laresen, 17—slipped off the wreckage and drowned one by one.

Overtaken Monday
The lone survivor said that the sloop overturned Monday while the scouts were en route home to Redwood City after attending a Sea Scout regatta off Alameda.

All five of the youths grabbed a mast and hung on to it. That night young Cole and Hattley gave up the struggle to hang on. They slipped off the mast quietly and drowned.

Tuesday morning young Laresen lost his grip and slid under the waves to his death. That left only Nelson and Stanley Norstrum, owner of the sloop.

Cried for Help
"Stanley got weaker and weaker as the day wore on," Nelson said. "Once I asked him to hand me a floor board to use as a paddle. But he just looked at me and didn't move."

Santa Ana Joins In Holiday

Chiefly through picnics, outings, motorizing and similar forms of recreation, hundreds of persons in Santa Ana and Orange county today joined the remainder of the state in celebrating the 88th anniversary of the admission of California to the Union.

City and county offices, banks and other institutions had been closed for the occasion, which is considered one of the most significant dates in the eventful history of California. It was on Sept. 9, 1850, that President Millard Fillmore affixed his signature to the long-discussed California bill—thus admitting the Golden State to the Union.

PEACE TALKS ABANDONED

BULLETIN
PRAGUE, Sept. 9.—(UP)—Premier Milan Hodza, in a move to end the breakdown of negotiations with the Sudeten Germans, has discharged and arrested police officials involved in a disturbance at Maehrisch-Ostrau, a reliable source reported tonight.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—(UP)—The British government has received information which causes it to believe that the Czechoslovak situation is at the explosion point.

In official as well as unofficial quarters it was asserted that the crisis was the gravest since that of August, 1914.

Drop Peace Talks
PRAGUE, Sept. 9.—(UP)—The Sudeten German party today refused to resume negotiations with the Czech government for peaceful solution of the minority crisis until the Maehrisch-Ostrau incident is "liquidated."

Dr. Ernest Kundt, chief negotiator for the Sudeten party headed by Konrad Henlein, announced the decision to the foreign press after he and other Nazi leaders had conferred with Premier Milan Hodza.

The Czech officials and the British mediators here have been seeking resumption of the negotiations which were broken off as a result of the alleged beating of Sudeten representatives by Czechs.

Ready To Act
Both the French and British fleets were ready for action—the British fleet in the North Sea off the Scotland coast, the French Atlantic fleet at Brest and the French Mediterranean fleet at Toulon.

British fears were pointed by one important factor, which was no more than a possibility, but a dangerous one.

In well informed quarters there was a belief that "incidents" in Czechoslovakia might explain matters. It was suggested that Sudeten Germany and Nazi assertions that the Czechoslovak government was not in control of its security forces might be a preliminary to a demand by Germany that Nazi police be permitted to control the Sudeten area.

"Armed Intervention"
The Nazi policemen, it was suggested, would be organized locally in the Sudeten area and nominally, if not actually, would be Sudetens. But in any event, it was suggested, the move might really be the first phase of "armed intervention."

That was not confirmed. It was recalled, however, that Field Marshal Hermann Goering was reported recently to have sounded out Gen. Joseph Vuillemin, chief of staff of the French air force, on such a possibility during Vuillemin's recent visit to Germany.

Gives Warning
Sir Neville Henderson, British ambassador to Germany, saw Joachim von Ribbentrop, German foreign minister, at Nuremberg today. He was believed to have said the British government looks at the Sudeten German minority problem with anxiety and any rash step might be a serious matter involving many nations.

The emphasis which British sources put on the immediate gravity of the Czech crisis was viewed by some as a maneuver to bring pressure on Fuehrer Adolf Hitler before his Nuremberg speech on Monday. The British cabinet also will meet in an extraordinary session just before Hitler's speech, with an announcement of policy possible immediately afterward.

Join Forces
It was disclosed that plans for joint naval, air and land action by the British and French forces in event of war had been worked out by the high commands in detail, including disposition of part of the British fleet along French colonial

Coast Guard Aids Grounded Steamer

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Sept. 9.—The San Diego coast guard cutter Itasca today sped to the assistance of the Norwegian Motorship Elg, around on San Luis Obispo bay.

The Elg reported the sea calm and that only moderate swells were running. No lives were said to be endangered.

Coast guard officers said the Elg reported no leakage after running aground. Salvage operations were asked by the company's New York agents. However, a more detailed report of the ship's condition is being awaited from the Itasca when she arrives on the scene.

The Elg's distress message was sent out at 2 a. m. this morning by radio and relayed to the Itasca. The coast guard ship left immediately to render assistance.

Find Wreckage Of Marine Plane

BIG MEADOWS, Va., Sept. 9.—(UP)—Civilian Conservation Corps workers today found the burned wreckage of a U. S. marine corps plane which crashed against the side of Pork Mountain in a heavy fog yesterday.

The pilot, Frederick Ruether, 25, Louisville, Ky., was killed. He had taken off from the Quantico, Va., marine barracks on a training flight.

PLAY READ TO CIVIC PLAYERS

That Pulitzer prize-winning play "Our Town," was reviewed for Community Players' association Thursday night at the first autumn meeting in The Barn on Mabury street, by Mrs. Lyle Forman, who had seen the play on the New York stage.

She described its presentation without the aid of any special scenery, and stressed the cleverness of the lines and situations. In addition to the play review, the program featured music. A trio composed of Audrey Pieper, pianist; Anna May Archer, cellist; and Margaret Jaberg, violinist, played various numbers at intervals during the evening.

Informal try-outs were conducted by Gladys Simpson Shafer, Players' director, for the Elmer Rice play, "Counsellor at Law" with which the season will open in late autumn. Various members and guests read parts, but no definite assignments of roles were made. The play demands 18 men and 10 women, and parts will be filled as soon as possible. Try-outs will be held again tonight at 7:30 o'clock in The Barn, and

Youths Injured In Auto Collision

Frederick Pimental, 20, student at Santa Ana junior college last year, of 1416 North Flower, Santa Ana, and Chester D. Lassen, 39, El Capon, were cut and bruised at 5 p.m. yesterday when their cars collided at Seventeenth and Harbor boulevard, according to California highway patrol reports. Patrol officers gave them first aid.

SCHOOL HEAD REPORTS THAT LAW FORBIDS J. C. TUITIONS

Santa Ana's board of education is prohibited by law from charging tuition for students admitted from outside the state or other sections of California, it was declared in a report to the board in special session last night by Superintendent of Schools Frank Henderson.

Henderson's written report to the board contained a review of the state school code of 1935, which said the governing board of any junior college district "may require a tuition fee."

"The provisions of the 1935 code," the report said, "along with many others were changed by the statutes of 1937 and the 1937 school code now provides as follows:

"Section 3.370—The principal of any two-year junior college shall admit thereto any high school graduate and any other person over 18 years of age who in his judgment is capable of profiting from the instruction offered in the junior college."

"You will notice that the law now says 'shall admit,' also that there is no longer any distinction made between graduates of California high schools and graduates of other high schools, and also that there is no longer any section in the code referring in any way to the charging of tuition. Evidently the governing board of a junior college district, under the new law, would not be permitted to charge tuition."

Accompanying this report was a tabulation of various charges made by 20 other junior colleges in California, which revealed that out of the 20, only one—at Santa Rosa—made any tuition charge and this amount was only $1, "up until now, believing they were bound by law to make some tuition charge. However, there will be no charge at Santa Rosa from now on."

Henderson's report, which was not discussed by the board, was followed by the reading of a communication to the educators from the Property Owners' Association and signed by George Raymer, sec-

GAS USERS TO GET $6,000,000 REFUND

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 9.—(UP)—The Pacific Gas & Electric Co. was under federal court order today to return more than $6,000,000 to Northern California natural gas consumers in funds impounded during a rate reduction controversy.

The difference between rates existing in 1933 and those ordered by the state railroad commission was set aside while the company fought the commission's order in a lengthy court battle.

The court's decision, signed by Judge Curtis D. Wilbur of the U. S. circuit court with district judges St. Sure and Louderback concurring, held:

"The commission's judgment must be sustained unless overcome by convincing proof to the contrary. We conclude that the charge of confiscation is not clearly shown by this record."

EDUCATION BOARD APPROVES PROJECT

Depending on approval by WPA officials in Washington, a $25,307 Museum Project is scheduled to start here January 1 under supervision of the Santa Ana evening high school as the result of action by the Santa Ana board of education in regular session here last night.

The board voted to set aside $250 for materials, which they said was virtually the only cost to the sponsor, after a report on the proposed undertaking from W. W. Wieman, principal of the evening school. Wieman explained that the project would follow the completion of the Anthropology Project, which now is under way and scheduled for completion by the first of next year. The museum enterprise calls for the preparation of a catalog, preparation of museum pieces, creation of exhibits and models and physical contours, in addition to the preparation of historical material for educational purposes. If federal officials approve the project, work will be provided for 20 persons for one year, Wieman explained. After completion, the work will be placed on display in Bowers Memorial museum after it has been demonstrated before classes of local schools.

G. G. Farm Center Holds Meeting

Discussion of various phases of agricultural life, including irrigation, cover crops, pest conditions, and economics were the highlights of the regular meeting of the Garden Grove farm center last night at the Women's club house.

Speakers on the program were Harold Wahlberg, county farm advisor; Kenneth Sloop and Ed Dudley, deputy agricultural commissioners, and C. J. Marks, executive secretary of the Orange County Farm Bureau.

A nominating committee that will select officers for the coming year was chosen by the group. Members of the committee are J. W. Crill, A. D. Sandoval, E. P. Williams, and J. A. Murdy Jr. In the entertainment program, Robert Dozier of Garden Grove and Wanda Thompson of Costa Mesa, pleased with vocal solos and a shadow play was presented. Members of the play cast included Joe and Alma Watson and Robert and Evelyn Dozier.

Osteopaths Hold Meeting Here

Inaugurating their new officers for the 1938-39 season, the first meeting of the Orange County Osteopathic Society was held at Daniger's cafe last night with Dr. A. E. Vallier presiding.

Guest speaker of the evening was Dr. Ernest Bashor, gynecologist of Los Angeles, who was introduced by Dr. R. W. Tibbets, program chairman for the evening.

Using as his theme, "the unusual in gynecological practice," Dr. Bashor gave an illustrated lecture on hermaphroditism, showing several reels of moving pictures of surgery performed on a true anatomical and physiological hermaphrodite.

H. A. GALLIENNE RETIRES

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Sept. 8.—H. A. Gallienne, superintendent of grounds at the high school for many years, has retired and will move from the school bungalow to the family home on Eleventh street. Russell Robb will fill the vacancy and he and his family will occupy the school dwelling.

The world's commercial planes number only 1832. Of this number, 444 are in Great Britain and 311 in the United States.

ARREST TWO AS DRUNK DRIVERS

Two men, one of whom gave two deputy sheriffs an unwanted thrill when he narrowly missed colliding with their patrol car while traveling in his own car at a mile-a-minute speed, were booked at county jail last night on drunk driving charges.

Don Richards, 29, who gave his address as Ocean boulevard, Long Beach, according to Deputies Tom Murphine and Walt Dungan, passed their car traveling in the same direction while they were riding along Chapman avenue between 101 highway and Orana at midnight. Murphine said Richards was traveling more than 60 miles per hour and came within a fraction of an inch of side-swiping the police car even though Murphine swerved away from the other car. Richards told an examining doctor he had consumed seven cocktails.

E. B. Le Gate, 55, Huntington Beach, was arrested by Deputies Fred Swayze and George Swain earlier. He told the examining doctor, records show, he had consumed "four of five quarts of beer during the day."

First Month Has Brilliant Films

The largest and most expensive release list in the history of the film industry, is that which has been jointly announced by all producers for the first month of the million-dollar advertising and publicity campaign that commenced September 1 and extends to December 31.

Interesting contributions from the various studios for the month of September are as follows: "Boys Town," with Spencer Tracy and Mickey Rooney; "Too Hot to Handle," with Clark Gable and Myrna Loy and "Listen Darling," with Freddie Bartholomew.

"Sing Your Sinners," with Bing Crosby; "In Old Mexico," with William Boyd, and "Sons of the Legion," with Lynne Overman and Evelyn Keyes.

"Carefree," with Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers; "The Affairs of Anabel," with Lucille Ball and Jack Oakie, and the famous stage hit, "Room Service," with the Marx Brothers.

The picture version of "You Can't Take It With You," directed by Frank Capra.

These and other pictures in the group of 94 features chosen for the $250,000 Movie Quiz, are listed in detail in a free booklet now available at the Broadway and West Coast theaters, local contest headquarters.

Church Plans For Rally Sunday

A home-coming rally has been planned for members of the Four-square Gospel church at 9:45 a. m. Sunday, with Miss Margaret Beck, of Los Angeles, the principal speaker of the day.

Glen Stearns, superintendent of Sunday School at the church, today announced a new membership plan for Sunday School attendance. A new pin will be presented to every member on Sunday by the Rev. Alice Parham. The pin is to be worn every Sunday for 13 weeks at the conclusion of which it is to be exchanged for a bronze pin. Gold pins will be presented to those attending for two years.

At 10:45 a. m. Sunday a divine healing service will be conducted. Tonight the Rev. W. C. Parham will speak on the subject of "The Jews."

BOARD APPROVES BALLOT FOR JUNIOR COLLEGE BOND ISSUE

Meeting in special session at its headquarters here last night, the Santa Ana Board of Education approved the ballot for the projected $385,000 bond issue to finance the district's share of a $700,000 junior college plant, and voted to order 10,000 of the ballots.

Missionary From China To Speak

Dr. Mary Stone, superintendent of Bethel Mission in Shanghai, China, and for many years an outstanding Christian worker of international reputation, will be the guest speaker at the Spurgeon Memorial Methodist church, Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Dr. Stone will discuss the present social conditions in China and give her interpretation of the Japanese aggression.

At the 7:30 p. m. service the Beaver-Waters quartet which recently came to Southern California will sing several selections. Mrs. John H. Beaver will give a violin solo. The pastor will preach on the subject, "Christ and The New Paganism."

John Ramirez Is Awarded Honor

Word was received today that John Ramirez, son of J. M. Ramirez, 422 East Third street, and former Santa Ana junior college student has received the Alpha Gamma Sigma scholarship, a full tuition scholarship given to some junior college graduate in the state. Ramirez returns this fall to the

BOARD ASSIGNS TEACHER POSTS

Various assignments of teachers to posts in local schools vacated either by withdrawal or temporarily through illness of regular instructors occupied attention of the Santa Ana board of education in special session here last night.

Miss Tui Wooley, who was art instructor in senior high school during the last year, has withdrawn to accept a similar position with the Los Angeles city schools. Her successor will be Miss Ruth Jensen, a graduate of U. C. L. A., who for a part of last year taught at the Garden Grove high school. The minimum salary for this position was listed as $1500 a year.

Miss Barbara Crawford, graduate of Santa Ana high school, junior college and of U. C. L. A., was appointed to succeed Miss Nelle Clingan, who resigned. This position pays $1320 a year.

Pending recovery of Miss Stella Mueller from illness, Miss Vera Beers, who had been instructing part time, will be teaching on a full time basis at the John Muir school. Until the return of Mrs. Marion Scott, who recently underwent a major operation, Miss Alice Lamb, a substitute teacher, will instruct for an undetermined time at the Frances Willard junior high school, the board decided.

NEW MURANE STORE TO OPEN SATURDAY

First installation of the new "World's Fair Light" in Orange county will be exhibited at the opening of Murane's in their new location at 323 North Broadway on Saturday. It is a fluorescent tube type of light known as "Zeon".

Most of the lighting at Murane's will be of the "daylight" type, being best suited for the display of jewelry and cameras. Formerly located in the Arcade Building, the new store brings to Santa Ana the latest trend in modern store front design, Murane said.

The new lighting operates on 65 volts with a current consumption of 20 watts. Mercury vapor carries the arc between two cathodes, or terminals. A fluorescent substance coating the inside of the tube becomes active in the presence of the arc and gives off a brilliant light. Murane's have adopted the slogan, "Home Movie Headquarters" and will show free moving pictures tomorrow during the opening.

Two Comedies Begin Today At West Coast

Two more $250,000 Movie Quiz contest pictures come to the West Coast theater today as "Three Loves Has Nancy" and "Rich Man, Poor Girl." screen. Both films are on the list of 34 pictures contained in the big contest. Moviegoers must see 30 pictures to take part in the event.

One of the most unusual and infrequent pages from modern life is highlighted in "Three Loves Has Nancy" which stars Janet Gaynor with Robert Montgomery and Franchot Tone. It is dedicated to the comedy resulting from a "quadrangle" instead of the perennial triangle.

The picture is based on a succession of comedy situations knit together by a well-paced plot. Janet Gaynor, whose recent re-ascension to fame has hinged on a succession of glamorous roles, is again cast as an unsophisticated young lady who wears gorgeous gowns in an atmosphere of ultra-modern sophistication.

Hailed as a top-ranking laugh riot, "Rich Man, Poor Girl" has a cast headed by Robert Young, Guy Kibben, Lew Ayres, Ruth Hussey, Rita Johnson and Lana Turner. In the story, Young offers his secretary, a life of ease, but, suspicious of his intentions, she refuses his offer of marriage until he has met her family. When this rich young socialite clashes with her cousin, wild champion of the middle classes, and the rest of her lovable but comical family, the film begins to sizzle.

"WHERE DID YOU GET THAT WORD?"

"LET GEORGE DO IT"

"GEORGE" IS USUALLY A WAITER OR A PULLMAN PORTER...

BUT THE NAME GEORGE REALLY BELONGS TO THE FARMER BECAUSE

IT COMES FROM THE GREEK WORD "GEORGOS," MEANING HUSBANDMAN. THE FIRST TWO LETTERS ARE GREEK FOR EARTH—THE SECOND PART MEANS WORK—HENCE THE TERM EARTHWORKER!

tary, a life of ease, but, suspicious of his intentions, she refuses his offer of marriage until he has met her family. When this rich young socialite clashes with her cousin, wild champion of the middle classes, and the rest of her lovable but comical family, the film begins to sizzle.

Added attractions are a Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck cartoon, and world news.

AGREEMENT REACHED

Members of the Santa Ana board of education in special session last night consummated agreements with the Diamond, Greenville and Paulino school districts providing for the attendance by students from those areas of the Santa Ana high school. The agreements are reached annually to provide high school facilities for the three districts where no high school facilities are available.

It is estimated that 650,000 motor vehicles were sold outside of the United States in 1937.

Of the total number of pilots, by far the largest single group is composed of private flyers. No fewer than 9352 are in this group.

CHAPMAN'S TO OPEN SANTA ANA STORE

A. A. Comey, president of Chapman's Ice Cream company, producers of Chapman's famous ice creams and ice cream creations, announces today the opening on or about September 19, of a new Chapman's Ice Cream Store for Santa Ana.

This new store will be located at 1806 North Main street, Santa Ana, and no expense will be spared in installing a new and unique type of store, he said, and added that the interior of this store will represent a garden, with proper fixtures and garden decorations.

In conjunction with the famous ice cream department, Chapman's will operate a complete candy department, featuring exclusively Mary Fraser candies and chocolates.

For the last two years Chapman's has received numerous requests to install a store in Santa Ana, and for this reason Chapman's now enters the Santa Ana district, Comey said. Chapman's products are well known to the people of Santa Ana and need little introduction, according to Comey.

B. of San Francisco, Member of the Board of Directors of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, to be delivered in the Anaheim Union High School Auditorium, Sunday, September 11, at 3 p. m. The public is cordially invited to attend. Lecture printed in full in the Anaheim Bulletin.

Expect 3200 To Enter Schools

Following informal conferences with principals of the 14 elementary schools in Santa Ana, Superintendent of Schools Frank Henderson announced today that at least 3200 students are expected to be enrolled in this branch of local educational facilities at 8:30 a. m. Monday.

At the same time, Superintendent Henderson emphasized the fact that state law requires all prospective kindergarten students to be five years old by March 31, 1939, if they are enrolled this year; and that children expecting to enter the first grade must be six years old by the same date.

School officials said the elementary children would stay at school until noon Monday, the first day of the 1938-39 term.

More than 43,000,000 motor vehicles were in operation in the world as of Jan. 1.

200 SPARROWS KILLED

RED WING, Minn. (UP) — Ole Ringen, caretaker at Levee park here, found 200 English sparrows dead beneath a tree the morning after a storm. Examination failed to reveal a visible cause of death. Despite the fact that the feathers of the dead birds were intact, park officials believed a lightning bolt killed the birds as they slept in the tree.

CAMERA DAY IS FAIR FEATURE

Keen interest has been aroused among camera enthusiasts throughout the Southland by the announcement of plans for the first annual camera day at Los Angeles County Fair in Pomona, Saturday, Sept. 24, one of the big days of the exposition, has been selected. A total of $100 will be awarded in cash prizes as follows: First prize, $25; second prize, $15; third prize, $10, and ten $5 prizes to say nothing of several honorable mentions.

The contest is open to amateurs only. One simply brings his or her camera along on a regular visit to the exposition and shoots the "shots." They have until Nov. 1, 1938, to submit their prints. These prints must not be smaller than 2 1/2 x 3 1/4 but can be any size larger up to 8 x 10. All enlargements must be mounted. Prints must be sent to Los Angeles County Fair in Pomona.

Judging will be done by recognized authorities who will base their selections on the publicity value of the picture. The object is to stimulate interest in photography and to provide additional material to publicize the event in 1939. For the latter purpose, it is understood that Los Angeles County Fair shall be permitted to have free use of all prize winning films for reproduction and use as they may desire. Thus the quality of the negative will have a bearing on the judges.

Beauty spots, buildings, crowds, horse races, milking and churning contests, animals, action, typical county fair shots, night illumination and countless other attractions afford a wealth of subjects. Each contestant may submit as many different prints as he wishes.

In connection with action shots and the races participants are not allowed on the race track or in the infield at any time. However, excellent race pictures can be procured along the rail.

Because of the great number of people attending the fair, especially on Saturday, entrants are warned against the use of tripods. The judging will be done as soon as possible after the closing date and the winning contestants will be notified.

While Saturday, Sept. 24 has been designated as Camera Day, the exposition extends over a period of 17 days from Sept. 16 to Oct. 2 and pictures may be taken any one of these days. Thousands of information sheets and announcement cards have been distributed to camera dealers throughout this section.

snappy new uniforms, new drums and other instruments and special uniforms for the four majorettes from the Santa Ana high school who will lead the military unit in the big parade," Brown explained. "And the credit for the success of the twelfth annual ODDO procession of the drive will be distributed among all Legion posts in the county for we believe that all members and auxiliary units have tried sincerely to aid the Santa Ana contingent in reaching its goal."

Concluding the review of the drive situation today, R. M. Conklin, circulation manager of The Register, emphasized the necessity of turning in reports immediately after the blanks are signed.

"During the last several days we have received many calls from persons saying they had signed up with Legionnaires in the campaign but as yet they had not received The Register," Conklin explained. "This no doubt has happened because of the eagerness of workers to obtain their signatures, but it must be remembered that one of the most important parts of the campaign to keep the supporters throughout the area absolutely satisfied with all relationships between the Legion workers and The Register with the public. Therefore, we're calling all reports on order blanks as they are signed."

It was learned this morning that announcements in connection with the campaign that were made at last night's meeting of the Legion in Santa Ana are expected to add great impetus to the drive during the next few days and up to the time it closes at midnight Thursday, Sept. 15.

SCHOOL EXPENDITURES JUMP BUT TAX RATE IS REDUCED

Showing a reduction in the Santa Ana school tax rate of 13 cents from last year's rate of $2.17 in spite of a $1,488.36 increase in this year's operating budget, the 1938-39 fiscal school rate of $2.04 as set up by County Auditor W. T. Lambert was accepted by the Santa Ana board of education in special session last night.

Last year's operating budget for Santa Ana schools was $901,079.64, while the amount scheduled for expenditure this year is $902,568, according to figures in the office of School Auditor Harold Yost.

State Aid Increases
"While the expenditures this year will be virtually the same as last year, the great increase in aid from the state makes possible the 13-cent reduction in the local tax levy," Yost explained. Consisting chiefly of state aid, which is paid the Santa Ana district by the state department of education on the basis of each unit of average daily attendance in the schools, a total of $632,988 will be received this year as against $539,948.49 in state receipts last year.

A break-down of the reduction of the local levy shows a seven-cent decrease for operating expenses and a six-cent reduction for bonds. The report to the board last night from the county auditor gave the units of the $2.04 levy this year as follows: 53 cents this year as against 54 for last year, elementary school tax; elementary bonds, school, 62 cents this year as against 63 cents, same as last year; high 68 for last year; high school bonds, 57 against 43 last year; and junior college, 19 cents, the same as last year, or a $2.04 total.

Operation Needs
The various amounts that the school board had submitted to the county auditor as needed for operation were as follows: Junior college, $48,069; high school district, $158,055; and elementary, $124,826. It was on the basis of these figures that the $2.04 tax rate was established.

It was pointed out further by Yost that the actual operating budget of $902,568 for this year does not include the $81,350 fund set up

Court Notes

Russell C. Davis, of Anaheim, yesterday filed a petition in the office of County Clerk Basil J. Smith asking appointment as guardian of 13-year-old Jesse Rush Taylor, who, he said, had been residing with him for the last five years. It was set forth that the child's parents were Jesse and Nell Taylor, and that the whereabouts of the mother were unknown.

Scheduled to have been heard yesterday before Judge James L. Allen, the case of Walter Lyon, charged with non-support, by Katherine Lyon, was dismissed on the motion of Deputy District Attorney Robert Gardner.

Fourteen-year-old Martin Neuman, son of Leo Neuman whose professional name is Leo Mann, was disappointed twice last night after bicycling to Orange county to see his father.

The first disappointment came when Martin learned his father had left Santa Ana temporarily to lead his orchestra at Seattle, the second when Deputy Sheriff Tom Murphine and Walt Dungan found Martin at a Buena Park garage and sent him home with his mother. His mother came to Orange county for Martin after the officers reported his whereabouts.

Four Orange boys and a Santa Ana boy were caught in the act of stealing watermelons from the Fred H. Rohrs ranch at 17th and Maybury last night, sheriff's officers reported. Rohrs said he did not wish to have the youths arrested so they were warned and sent home.

Three-year-old Charles Price, 1915 West Washington, was returned to his home last night after William Hoover, 2017 West Eighth, told police the toy was at his place and lost.

Bill Crist, 1902 South Birch, told police his $35 red and black "Shelby Flyer" bicycle was stolen between 6:45 and 10:30 p. m. yesterday from its parking place in a rack at Fourth and Birch streets.

Police were asked yesterday to stop boys from stealing caps from cars parked on the used car lot at 1801 West Fifth street. John Graham made the request.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED
WESTMINSTER, Sept. 9.—Mrs. Anna Abbott observed a birthday anniversary this week and a group of 14 friends from Westminster and Huntington Beach surprised her by bringing refreshments of ice cream and cake and punch and remaining for a social evening. There were many lovely gifts for the honoree. Bridge entertained and prize awards were given, with first prize going to Mr. Radenbaugh and low to Frank Johnson.

BUDGE AND MARBLE SCORE EASY WINS

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 9.—(UP)—Donald Budge, supposed to be suffering from an infected throat, played like a hale and hearty champion today when he opened the defense of his National tennis singles championship with a 6-0, 6-0, 6-1 victory over Welby Van Horn in a second round match.

If Budge makes a successful defense of his title he will become the first man in history to hold the English, Australian, French and American championships simultaneously.

Budge was preceded on the stadium center court by Alice Marble, No. 1 in National rankings, who started a drive for the title she sold two years ago with a 6-1, 6-0 victory over Catharine Sample.

Czech Crisis At Explosion Point

routes and dispatch of mechanized British forces to back up the French Maginot line.

Another important development was seen in the conferences of Viscount Halifax, foreign minister, with spokesmen for shades of British political opinion including such friendly critics of the government as Anthony Eden. The visit of Eden, who has been rumored likely to return to the cabinet, was of special interest because it was his break with Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain last winter that started Britain on her "realistic" program for peace in Europe.

Crisis Soon
At Prague, there seemed hope that negotiations would be resumed between the Czechoslovak government and the Sudden Minority party. There had been definite signs that any urgent crisis would come next week, after the speech by Hitler and an extraordinary meeting of the British cabinet Monday morning.

An authoritative British spokesman said this afternoon: "The situation is very, very delicate. Issues of clearly great moment are now at stake. There should be a great sense of responsibility by everyone to avoid giving currency to rumors and to make it plain what is at stake."

Dangerous
But it was soon apparent that the government feared it faced a situation which it believed to be even more dangerous than the Mediterranean crisis when Italy was fighting Ethiopia.

There was also new talk of the possibility of a plebiscite in the Sudeten area. German Nazis have spoken of the possibility of a plebiscite; it was regarded as certain that they would welcome one because there could be no doubt of its result: A vote to join Germany.

Japanese Mass For Offensive

failed to stem the offensive to the south of Mahweiling, south of the Yangtze river. This column constituted a flanking threat to Hankow.

Foreign observers said that it was increasingly apparent that the Japanese would be able to outflank Hankow by taking the city of Kukiang and advancing south on Nanchang, capital of Kiangsi province.

The Japanese were blasting the roads, creeks and rivers in the vicinity of Hankow in an effort to pierce the stubborn defense before the military "Heart of China."

The Chinese claimed they sank two Japanese warships in a heavy exchange of fire.

SCHUSCHNIGG ILL
VIENNA, Sept. 9.—(UP)—Kurt Schuschnigg, last chancellor of independent Austria was reported seriously ill today.

Schuschnigg was said to have suffered a nervous breakdown which may force postponement of his trial on a charge of treason.

THOUSANDS JOIN IN TRIBUTE TO PATRICK CARDINAL HAYES

NEW YORK CITY, Sept. 9.—(UP)—The most colorful procession in the history of the Holy Roman Catholic church in North America moved solemnly into St. Patrick's Cathedral today where in measured phrases, rich in the tradition of centuries, a solemn pontifical mass was sung for the soul of Patrick Cardinal Hayes.

A throng so vast it filled the great cathedral and overflowed by thousands on roped off streets nearby offered its final tribute to the humbly born youth who became a prince of his church. In the four days since his death Sunday more than 300,000 had passed before the bier where his body lay in state.

Long Procession
The funeral began with a procession of 4000 Cardinals, Archbishops, Bishops, Monsignors, Priests, Papal Noblemen and others in the vestments of their rank. The mass was sung by George Cardinal Mundelein who more than half a century ago was a school-mate of Cardinal Hayes in the lower east side of New York. He was assisted by the Right Rev. Monsignor Michael J. Lavelle, who officiated at the funeral of Cardinal Hayes' predecessor, Cardinal Farley, 20 years ago.

Casket Sealed
The deacon was the Right Rev. Monsignor Robert F. Keegan and the eulogy was delivered by Archbishop Joseph F. Rummel of New Orleans. After the mass absolutions were given by Archbishop Joseph Mitty of San Francisco, Bishop Stephen J. Donohue, Bishop Joseph H. Conroy, Bishop Edmund F. Gibbons and, finally, by Cardinal Mundelein.

One body was recovered.

in the rigging of the broken mast. He got tangled somehow and hung there for four hours with the water slapping at him, while he cried for help.

Nelson said he was too weak to go to his comrade's aid.

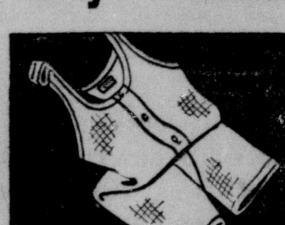

"Finally a big swell came," Nelson said, "and washed over the mast—when it went down Stan was gone and I was alone."

The wreckage of the sloop was sighted underneath the San Mateo bridge, approximately a quarter of a mile from where it first turned over. A widespread search by power boats and a coast guard amphibian plane had been made for the craft but it finally was sighted by a truck driver who was crossing the bridge.

Lions Talk About Selves at Meet

Three Santa Ana Lions club members whose birthdays fall during the month of September yesterday gave brief autobiographies in carrying out a newly instituted plan of President Don Jerome to have members become better acquainted with each other.

Speakers at yesterday's meeting at the Masonic temple included Emil Wagner, Christopher Macredes and Harry Brackett.

Past President C. W. Harrison was program chairman during this part of the meeting.

In the business session presided over by Jerome reports of committees were heard and plans for attending a picnic meeting sponsored by the Anaheim "den" were concluded. The Anaheim meeting, to be held for the Lions county council, will be at 8:30 p.m. next Thursday at Anaheim city park.

Accidents took 106,000 lives in 1937, according to the National Safety Council.

COUNTY REALTY MOVES RAPIDLY

Seven out of 13 districts in Orange county showed an increase in real estate transfers during the month of August over a similar period in 1937, according to statistics compiled today by R. Carson Smith, manager of the Security Title Insurance and Guarantee company, of Santa Ana.

"We have divided the county into 13 districts, each centering around one or more municipalities, and have drawn our figures from those sources," Smith said. "In our compilation we have limited the transactions to actual deeds where property has changed hands. Cases in which husband has deeded property to wife or similar property we have disregarded."

Following are the communities and the number of deed transfers recorded:

LOCAL GIRL ON S. C. COMMITTEE

Jane Hooven, of 1325 North Garnsey, Santa Ana, has been chosen to serve on welcoming committee to make new University of Southern California students feel "at home" during registration week for the fall term of 1938-1939 school year, starting on September 13.

The committee, which will greet the newcomers on the campus, assist them in registering for classes and in orienting themselves to campus life, will be made up of members of Trojan Squares, upper class and sophomore men's service organizations, respectively.

Junior college students will register on September 13, freshmen on September 14, sophomores the following day and upper classmen on September 16. Classes start on Monday, September 19.

Special events arranged for the freshmen include: Reception in the Hall of Nations; an all-university dance in the Social Hall of the Student Union, planned by Betty Jane Bartholomew, vice president of the student body and its official hostess on September 16; opening assembly on September 20 with an address of welcome by the president, and a student body activity assembly on Friday, September 23. In charge of Trojan Amazons is Miss Cecile Hallingby, president, while the Knights and Squires will assist registrants under the direction of Al Corley, Knight president.

Reports Theft Of Goat from Yard

Someone got Juan Cardenas' goat yesterday and he's "mad." Not only did someone get Cardenas' goat, he got a goodly portion of Cardenas' milk supply.

Cardenas, who lives at 301 South Franklin, told Officers L. C. Rogers and Herman Stahl that someone stole one of his five goats while he was asleep. What made Cardenas particularly "mad" was the fact that the stolen goat just became fresh and gives more milk than the others.

The goat, he said, is seven years old, is valued at $12, is brown in color and has a white face. "I heard a noise in my back yard where I have the goats but just thought the goats were restless," he explained. Police today were hunting the Cardenas goat and the person who stole her.

Police News

Boys who drove up and down on Louise street for several hours yesterday, creating a disturbance in the neighborhood, were sought unsuccessfully by police. At request of Arthur Nielsen, 818 Louise street, Officer Burnette Lane made a search of the neighborhood but was unable to find the boys.

Harold Dunkley, used car dealer of 1525 American avenue, Long Beach, yesterday asked Santa Ana police to find a 1935 car for him, if possible. Dunkley reported he recently repossessed the automobile from Henry Eliso, Route 3, Box 381, West Fifth street, Santa Ana, placed it on his parking lot and found it missing the following day. "I don't want to make a stolen car report," Dunkley said, "but, if you should find the car abandoned in Santa Ana, please let me know."

Two small children, who assertedly were selling pottery here yesterday without a license, were sought by police for questioning, reports on file show. Officer Tom Kinney reported he could not locate the children but was informed a woman had picked them up in her car and disappeared before his arrival.

France has won first place among the nations of the world for international air records during the past few years, French airmen having hung up 54 records.

CHAPTER OPENS FALL PROGRAM

ORANGE, Sept. 9.—Opening the fall program for members of Chapter 1E, P.E.O., was the luncheon held Wednesday in the home of Mrs. J. L. Clayton, Mesa drive. Table appointments were attractive and dahlias in many lovely varieties were used about the rooms.

Mrs. O. K. Dean presented a talk on "The Atlantic Monthly," the first of a series of studies of magazines to be held throughout the year.

Three guests from Chapter "S" P.E.O. were present, Mrs. Alfred Higgins, Mrs. Alfred Zapf and Mrs. N. J. Whitney. Miss Dorothy Flintham was a special guest.

Members of the chapter have taken a personal interest in Miss Flintham's advancing musical career over a period of several years. Members present were the hostess, Mrs. Clayton, and Mesdames E. H. Smith, O. K. Dean, B. B. Barton, Glenn Allen, Robert Campbell, H. L. Haynes, F. H. Gillick, Stewart N. White, H. E. Gorton, Sheldon Wheeler, Clyde Watson, Margaret Okles, Walter F. Kogler, Ben J. Brubaker, R. C. Patton, Frank Collins, O. Kemper Anderson.

Men's Club Told Day In Congress

ORANGE, Sept. 9.—"A Day in Congress" was the subject chosen by Congressman Harry Sheppard of the 19th district when he spoke Thursday evening at the first fall meeting of Immanuel Lutheran Men's club. A dinner preceding the program was served by the Helpmeet club of the church. Mrs. A. G. Webeking, wife of the pastor, presented piano selections after dinner.

Martin Danner, president, led the meeting attended by 35 members and guests. Congressman Sheppard's secretary, Harold Thorsen, also spoke briefly, outlining his work.

WOMEN'S AID OPENS SEASON

ORANGE, Sept. 9.—With the general theme, "Life teaches me friendliness," selected for the year, members of First Methodist church Women's Aid society held an initial meeting yesterday, with the vice president, Mrs. J. W. Bomboy, presiding. Mrs. Star Batchelor was program chairman.

Luncheon was served under the direction of section No. 1. Group singing was led by Mrs. Nettie Rozell, with Mrs. J. B. Kilgore at the piano. Aid members and friends were asked to write or send cards to Mrs. Flora Campbell, who is recovering from a broken ankle at the home of her son, H. D. Campbell, 331 North Cliffwood avenue, Los Angeles.

Miss Lelah Fernald told of plans for the Golden Jubilee Sunday and stated that it was hoped that a large number of the 900 church members would be present as well as former members and friends. Dinner will be served at noon.

Mrs. Myron C. Cole, wife of the pastor of the First Christian church, was speaker of the afternoon, giving the first of a series of talks on famous buildings. She chose the Cathedral of Rheims as her topic. Mrs. Mabel Faulkner, city librarian, will speak on "Architecture and Its Trend" October 13.

ORANGE PERSONALS

ORANGE, Sept. 9.—Miss Kate Pister and Miss Nelle Pister of North Tustin street have left for a two weeks vacation trip to Seattle, Vancouver and Victoria, B.C. They were accompanied by their cousin, Mrs. Emily Riley, of Los Angeles, and Mrs. L. F. Robinson of Orange. The vacationists will drive to Seattle, where they will visit Mrs. Riley's sister, Mrs. Lily Armstrong. From Vancouver they will take a boat trip to Victoria. During their absence, their home will be occupied by Mrs. Ford Underwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Doan and daughter, June, of Williams, Cal., enjoyed a recent visit of several days with Mr. Doan's mother, Mrs. Lily Doan, 164 North Center street. They also visited Mr. Doan's aunts, Miss Mabel Post, 230 North Orange street, and Mrs. Bentley Larimer, 124 South Waverly street.

Miss Mabel Post entertained Mrs. Herbert Wallace and Mrs. Lily Doan at dinner Sunday. The Rev. and Mrs. Arthur T. Hobson and son, Arthur and daughter, Lorene, are enjoying a week's vacation at Balboa, where they are occupying the Kenneth Claypool cabin.

PASTOR TALKS ON WORLD TRIP

ORANGE, Sept. 9.—Dr. Robert Burns McAulay, pastor of the First Presbyterian church and past president of the Orange Rotary club, yesterday told members of the organization of Rotarian activities around the world as he viewed them on a recent trip when he circled the globe. The speaker opened his talk by quoting a Japanese Rotarian as saying that if the fundamental principals of Rotary were practiced, war would be eliminated and race prejudice would be wiped out.

Traveling with a representative of the National Geographic society through the Holy Land, the speaker had the opportunity to see a number of interesting places. At Damascus, he said, on the day of their arrival there, a charter was granted to a Rotary club, the first club to use the Arabic language. Russia, carrying out an intensive economic plan, is not interested in foreigners, said Dr. McAulay, although he stated the group with which he traveled was furnished guides and extended every courtesy. Russia ranks second industrially to the United States, he said.

Tells Greatest Thrill
The speaker brought with him a number of wrappers from oranges packed in South Africa, South America and Palestine as well as California which he had eaten while abroad.

The greatest thrill of his trip, said the speaker, is to come back to America on an American passport under the protection of the American flag. Frank Collins presided and T. P. Douglas, a past president of the club, served as program chairman.

ORANGE GIRLS COUNTY'S LAST TOURNEY HOPE

The Lionettes of Orange alone remained to carry the colors of Orange county in the Southern California softball tournament today. Three other representatives from this section have fallen by the wayside.

The Lionettes meet Slap Maxie's girls at Loyola stadium on Venice boulevard tonight and see action again tomorrow and see action Mode 'O' Day girls at Sunset field provided they win tonight.

Tustin, after winning its opening game Wednesday night from the Bank of America, was eliminated last night by the Long Beach Union Oil nine, 6-4, at Goodyear field. Union Oil piled up a 6-2 lead going into the last inning but Tustin went down fighting. The County leaguers loaded the bases and "Chuck" Hamilton's two-bagger scored two men, making the count 4-2. Ed Starkey, who had socked a home run in the second inning was purposely passed to fill the bases. Then Pitcher Axel Johnson struck out Leo Morse to end the game.

Anahelm's Red Lions also went out of the tournament last night when they dropped a 5-2 decision to the strong Pomona Maytag nine.

Montgomery Ward of Santa Ana was ousted Tuesday night. Inglewood blanked the Wards 6-0.

OILERS SET FOR 'KILL' TONIGHT

Although Manager Joe Rodgers talks of leading with his second string pitcher, "Fuzzy" Errington, the Huntington Beach Oilers are favored to defeat San Bernardino again tonight and clinch the National league championship on their own field.

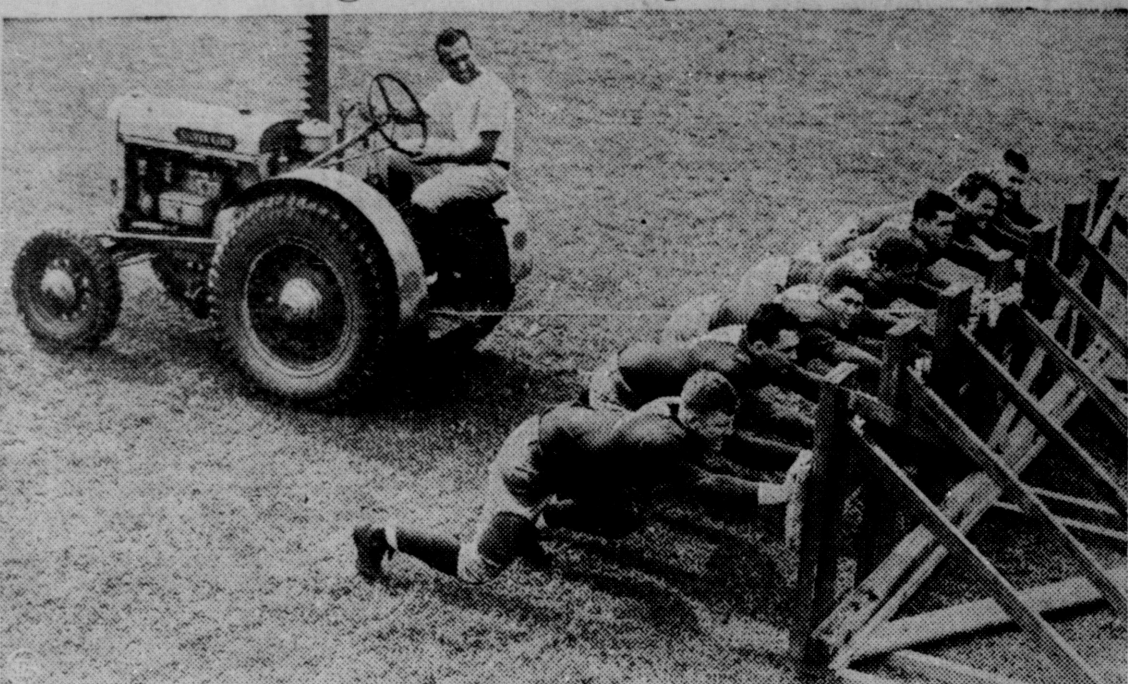

Huntington Beach leads the final Shaughnessy series by a margin of three games to one so needs only one more victory. San Bernardino must sweep the next three games to win.

Tonight's contest is the first that has been played at Huntington Beach. The first two and the fourth were at Colton and the third was held in Santa Ana.

Oaks Sign Priest, Bear Pitcher

SAN FRANCISCO.—(UP)—Bill Priest, former star of the University of California, will pitch the second game for Oakland in the Admission Day doubleheader tonight with San Francisco at the Seale stadium. He went direct from California to the Philadelphia Athletics but was released, at his request, so that he might play regularly.

Vines Is Icicle In White Pants But He'll Shiver On First Tee

BY HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK—On the tennis court he is as cold a proposition as ever swung a racket. Winning or losing, he always scorns the "shots and hits out for the sides and corners. The crowd neither bothers nor inspires him because he ignores it. At match point, for or against him, it is his policy to pound away at the ball with all the power in his towering frame.

That is Ellsworth Vines. An icicle in white pants.

It's an even money bet, however, that when he steps on the first tee Monday in the National Amateur golf championships at Pittsburgh, he will have a momentary attack of jitters that will knock his knees, bring beads of perspiration to his brow large enough for a goldfish to swim in, and make him long for the familiar feel of a tennis racket.

There won't be more than a few hundred spectators around the first tee, but to Vines they will loom larger than all the tens of thousands who have watched him play tennis all over the world. I have yet to meet a champion at some other sport who, when he turned to tournament golf, didn't get a case of galloping "buck fever" on the first tee.

There never was a tougher, colder competitor than Ayrus

Raymond Cobb was at baseball. The bigger the crowd, the more crucial the moment, the finer Cobb performed. But you should see him in a golf tournament. He suffers 17 deaths on that first tee, and even in friendly games he likes to start on the second hole if there is a gathering at the first hole.

I laughed at this embarrassment of Ty's during a round on the coast last winter and he said: "I just can't help it. I can't stand to play before a crowd."

Of course, Vines eventually will get over being afraid to play before a gallery if he sticks to golf but it will be a long time, if ever, before he will be able to face a crucial shot on the fairway or green with the same assurance he faced a similar shot on the tennis court. Golf puts more severe pressure on the nerves than any other sport. You don't have to take my word for it. Ask Bobby Cruikshank or Tommy Armour or any of a dozen or more top-ranking pros who played at other sports before turning to the mashie and the mid-iron.

"There is nothing in the world," I have heard Armour say a hundred times, "that so punishes the nervous system of a man as 72 holes of play in an important tournament. A 10-foot putt will gray the hair, palsy the hands, and harden yards of arteries. And mind you, 10-foot putts don't just come every once in a while. You no more than finish battling to the death with one, than you must walk on and look another in the eye. I never have walked the 'last mile' to the electric chair, but I don't believe it is a worse ordeal than stepping up on that green for a putt that means the winning or losing of a title."

This from a man who rode through the World war in a tank, when tanks weren't any too bullet-proof. You might ask Tommy some time about those moments in a tank when bullets got in and then, not being able to get out, buzzed about inside like bees. He'll still tell you golf is harder on the nerves.

But back to Vines. If Elly can manage to master the "jitters" at Pittsburgh he should stay around until well into the week. His is a pretty sound game. Harry Cooper, a fair judge of golfing style, said as long ago as last December, after watching Vines play a round or two, that all he needed to become one of the finest amateurs was a few refinements. Vines, a patient, hard worker at anything he gets his mind on, probably has gained those refinements. Let us hope so, anyway, because amateur golf could stand a little additional color. Hack Wilson Blasts Ex-Manager Hornsby

By NEA Service

CHICAGO.—For seven years, Hack Wilson refused to talk of the Chicago Cubs, with whom he starred.

"I've gone around saying what a nice fellow was Rogers Hornsby," asserts the stocky outfielder, "but Hornsby took the bat out of my hands because I got more money and publicity than he did. I had one bad year and got let out. They forgot, awfully quick, the money I drew through the gates."

Wilson came to Chicago with the McKeesport, Pa., team to play at Mills Stadium. "I got $6000 a month in 1931, or rather that is what I was down for," relates the old home run hitter. "But I didn't get it all. Hornsby fined me anywhere from $500 to $800 that season. The $8000 was what I didn't get for the last six weeks when I was suspended for the season."

"You couldn't read a paper or smoke a cigaret in the clubhouse under Hornsby. You were lucky to read your mail."

"I was what they call a 'cripple ball' hitter. I clouted that 2-0 or 3-1 pitch. But Hornsby gave me the take sign and there I'd stand. Then I was benched. 'Sure I drank. I had a lotta fun, and if I had everything to do over again, knowing what I know now, I probably would do the same things again — only worse.'"

But Hack Wilson insists that he played his head off every day that he was with the Cubs.

And that his principal trouble was that he was too big for Rogers Hornsby.

BACKFIELD OF DONS APPEARS ONLY PROBLEM

Coach Bill Foote laid his battle plans at Santa Ana high school today and said "we aren't figuring on Melvin Barron, veteran halfback."

According to unverified reports, Barron is transferring to Redondo Beach for his senior season. His parents are said to be moving there immediately.

Barron's departure will be a worse blow to Coach "Pinky" Greene of the track team than to the Saint football machine. Barron ran second in the State prep high hurdles last spring, helping Santa Ana tie for second place in the All-California meet. He was expected to run 15 flat or better next season.

Coach Foote called off a contemplated scrimmage for a day. He does not believe his boys are far enough advanced for contact work and doubts whether they'll be ready Monday, either. Yesterday's session was devoted to blocking and other fundamentals.

BY DUNCAN CLARK

"Those linemen will take care of themselves, but our backs need plenty of polish," one close follower of football said as he watched Coach Bill Cook's Dons scramble through their first light scrimmage at the Municipal Bowl last night.

And that seems the general consensus among most observers. The line will do. But will the new backfield?

Six more gridmen checked out equipment last night swelling the Don turnout to 79, a record-breaking total.

Included in the latest turnout were lettermen Dick Saunders, brother of "Racehorse" Russell Saunders of Trojan fame; Tom Anderson, big Brea tackle; Paul Wolfe, end of Tustin; Jack Fishbein, from Central high, Washington, D. C.; Bill Barry and Mark Stewart, former Santa Ana Saints.

Allan (Junior) Goff, a 175-pound Laguna Beach tackle, practically stole the show in the first dummy scrimmage. His hard charging defensive play was the highlight of a strenuous session.

Backfield honors went to Captain Larry Timken, who nimble-footed it through opposing linemen as of yore, and Lynn Arnett, the pass-throwing veteran, who turned in a fancy bit of ball-carrying the few times he packed the pigskin.

The Dons practice again tonight at the Bowl starting at 7 o'clock. Practice will be suspended over Saturday and Sunday with regular practice sessions being resumed Monday afternoon.

CHAFFEY TO PLAY AT SUN VALLEY
POCATELLA, Idaho.—(UP)—The University of Idaho, Southern branch, will meet Chaffey junior college of Ontario, Calif., on Oct. 15 at Sun Valley in the Southern branch's third scheduled football game of the season, Dean J. R. Nichols said today.

RED SOX PURCHASE LOUISVILLE TEAM

BOSTON (UP)—Tom Yawkey, millionaire owner of the Boston Red Sox, apparently was convinced today that developing baseball talent was cheaper than buying it. The Red Sox announced outright purchase of the Louisville club of the American association.

SANTA ANA J. C. GETS 9.8 SPRINTER, TWO FINE MILERS

Ever since Santa Ana went to the head of the class on the grid-iron, other Eastern Junior College conference schools have sniffed disdainfully.

"Oh, we'll admit your football teams are good, but is football ALL that is played in Santa Ana? Your basketball teams are usually last. Your baseball nines are hopeless. Your track squads are never worth watching. Santa Ana, you are just a football school, nothing else."

Fullerton headed this chorus, and Fullerton had more than words to back up its argument. Whereas Santa Ana tied San Bernardino for the football championship, Fullerton won titles in basketball, baseball track, tennis, other sports.

Our Dons must have been stung into action by these taunts for in the registration current at Santa Ana Jaycee is the most formidable group of "other sports" athletes in Don history.

The track team new Coach John Ward will handle, for instance, is sure to be a contender for the conference title. A 9.8 sprinter, two milers capable of 4:30 or better, several finished fieldmen are in the fold.

The sprinter, Claude Bassham, hails from Hot Springs, Ark. He ran 9.8 consistently last year in high school. He came to Southern California expecting to enter U.S.C. as a freshman but his credits needed something or other so S.C. steered him to Santa Ana. Bassham also broad-jumps 22.8.

Montana's state prep champion miler, Jack Stafford, is here and so is Al Randolph of Fremont, winner of the mile last year in the Los Angeles City league meet. Stafford registers from Great Bend, Montana. He won the Montana State prep meet in 4:27. Randolph's best was 4:32 but his coach said he never was really extended and will run faster the first time he gets competition.

Big Ed Becker, the San Diego redhead who is expected to fill "Rusty" Roquet's place in football, was Southern Cal. champion in the shot last year. He hit 54 feet.

'Wrestling' In Ice Cream Latest In Sport

MINNEAPOLIS.—(UP)—If they had had cake, the party might have been a success, but just plain wrestlers don't go so well in ice cream.

The fans got their first sample of wrestling a la mode here last night and decided it wasn't an appetizing dish.

It took two of the grunt and groaners and a referee 11 minutes to melt down 7000 pounds of ice cream so that it was "soupy."

After much slipping, falling, splashing and throwing 315 gallons of chocolate-vanilla-strawberry mixture, one Joe Reno of New York on one "Roughhouse" Rooss of St. Paul and buried his nose in muck to receive the decision.

YORBA LINDA SEEKS THIRD PLAYOFF WIN

With the veteran Al Bushman again slated to take the mound, Yorba Linda, will be out to make it three straight over San Juan Capistrano tonight in their Orange County league play-off series on the Mission City diamond.

Bushman has allowed the Capistrano team only six hits during the last 18 innings he's hurled against them.

Linda won the first game, 2-1, and the second game Tuesday night, 6-1.

CALIFORNIA'S 110 LARGEST SQUAD OF ALL

SAN FRANCISCO.—(UP)—With opening day confusion eliminated, eight Pacific Coast conference college football coaching staffs pushed 494 young athletes in drills and exercises today, pointing toward the opening game of the 1938 season two weeks hence.

The largest squad reporting on the official opening of practice yesterday was at California, where 110 men turned out to greet Coach Leonard (Stub) Allison. The smallest squad was at Pullman, where Washington State Coach "Babe" Hollingbery found only 35 on hand.

In between were: Stanford 80; U. S. C. 80; Washington 53; Oregon 50; U. C. L. A. 50, and Oregon State 36.

The coaches lost little time getting down to business. Jimmy Phelan at Washington held scrimmages the first day. Allison called two drills for his California Bears, defending champions. Rain interfered with Washington State's start. At Oregon the turnout was the largest on record.

Several hundred other young athletes worked out at Idaho, Montana, Santa Clara, St. Mary's, Portland and Loyola, other schools which subscribe to conference rules. Idaho and Montana are associate members of the conference but are not included in the conference round-robin schedule.

GRESHNER ON BEARS' SECOND STRING

Four of Santa Ana Jaycee's graduate graders now attending Pacific Coast conference universities did well by themselves on the opening day of practice yesterday.

"Stub" Allison of California named Bill Greshner, who was All-Southern Jaycee selection for quarterback here in 1936, at left half on the Bears' second eleven.

"Slip" Madigan of St. Mary's had the Dons' All-Southern California guard, Joe Crawford, on his second team and the Dons' two Trojan contributions—Russell "Rusty" Roquet and Carl Benson—were picked by Howard Jones on the U. S. C. third team.

Comic Plays 180 Holes On One Golf Round

HOLLYWOOD—(UP)—Screen Comic Bob Hope, a golf slicker if there ever was one, was collecting bets today for having played 180 holes of golf in one round.

Hope did the chore in three hours and ten minutes, like this: He showed up at the No. 1 tee at Lakeside Country club with 11 caddies. He banged out 10 balls. One caddy carried his clubs, and the others located his 10 balls, each of which Hope proceeded to play right on through the 18 holes. Ten times 18 equals 180!

The actor, who usually is in the 75's and 76's, had two 78's, three 79's, four 80's and one 82.

BACA BROTHERS TOP NEW BOXING SHOW

Fighting in the top spot of a double main event, Fernie Baca, Ontario Indian, is booked to meet Al Higgins, Los Angeles Negro, at the Orange County A. C. Monday night. In the second half of the double main event, "Red" O'Shannon is rematched with Johnnie Shaw, West Indies Negro who turns professional after his bout here. Two weeks ago Shaw defeated O'Shannon by a narrow margin.

Sal Baca, Diamond Belt champion in his division, fights Tino Sanchez, in the semi-windup. The following preliminary matches have also been scheduled: Felix Gomez vs Kid Buddy, 132 pounds; "Indian" Calderon vs Gil Morales, 128 pounds; Santos Quijano vs Jack McBride, 140 pounds; Al Trinidad vs Nino Perez, 114 pounds and Steve Silva vs Frankie Gardea, 122 pounds.

Win Green, Boston Red Sox trainer who served in the same capacity for the Boston Bruins several years ago, says ball players make more fuss about a hangnail than hockey players do about a broken leg.

use the ropes for leverage.

Billie Rayburn, classy new grappler from Dixie, tied up the Black Secret in a beautiful imitation of a sailor's knot to make him holler "ruff" in 14:50 and then held him down while Hopkins unmasked him. He turned out to be none other than Nick Bozinas, a well known middle western wrestler. Charlie Carr made a chump out of Fritz Hansen in 12:16.

WHITE MAKES DEBUT ON PRO GRID TONIGHT

DETROIT—(UP)—Byron (Whizzer) White, most publicized college star of the 1937 football season, makes his debut as a professional tonight in the National league's curtain raiser between the Detroit Lions and the Pittsburgh Pirates.

White, Colorado university half-back, is the biggest question mark confronting the pro magnates today. He delayed taking advantage of a Rhodes scholarship at Oxford to accept the Pirates' $15,000 offer to play one season.

This is the biggest salary ever reported in the "play-for-pay" loop and the other club owners who are paying the majority of their players from $150 to $200 a game, are waiting to see if White can pay his freight in increased attendance to the Pirates games.

Against him, White will find that other great Rocky Mountain star, Earl (Dutch) Clark, regarded as the best quarterback the National league ever saw. There was, some talk that Clark might devote his time to coaching the club this season, but he will be in uniform tonight. He may not be at his best, however, because of an injured ankle.

The Lions are the most improved team in the league, according to George Halas, president and coach of the Chicago Bears, Pittsburgh, with the exception of Paul McDonough of Utah at right end, has the same veteran line of last year and White is the only newcomer in the backfield, although the Pirates will be depending largely on recruits for reserve strength.

PLAN RING TOURNEY

NEW YORK—(UP)—Nat Fleischer, editor of Ring magazine, announced today he planned to conduct a heavyweight elimination tournament to develop new talent and attempt to find a challenger for Joe Louis. He is seeking National Boxing association sponsorship of the tournament.

Fleischer said he planned to divide the United States and Canada into six zones and hold tournaments in each, with the winners meeting in the finals at Madison Square Garden.

THE NEBBES

Oliver Begins First Season At Oregon U.

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the third of a series on Pacific Coast conference football teams.)

EUGENE, Ore.—(UP)—Coach Gerald A. ("Tex") Oliver opened his first season at the University of Oregon today by marshalling his forces in a high-powered practice session in preparation for the opener against Washington State at Pullman two weeks hence.

Practice officially opened for all Pacific Coast conference teams yesterday, but the 50 Webfoots on hand confined the first day to fitting of uniforms and posing for newspaper photographers, followed by a brief scrimmage.

A "new deal" coaching staff, headed by the ex-Arizona mentor and including 240-pound Ralph W. Cole, former U.S.C. tackle, together with 21 returning lettermen, have caused Duck fans to contemplate the season with enthusiasm.

The only varsity coaching hold-over is Mike Mikulak, backfield mentor. Oregon will have plenty of backfield material, despite the recent loss of Paul Rowe, who will play rugby in Canada, and graduation of Dale Lasselle and Arleigh Bentley. A trio of 200-pounders, Frank Emmons, Bill Bach and Marshal Stenstrom, vie for Rowe's fullback post.

The famed "touchdown twins" of last year, Jay Grayzel and Bob Smith, lead the halfbacks. Others are Jimmy Nicholson, Steve Anderson, veterans, and Leonard Isberg, sophomore, left halfbacks; and Ted Gebhardt and Dave Gammon, veterans, and Duke Hankinson, sophomore, right halfbacks.

Hank Nilsen, junior, will be pushed for the quarterback job by Dennis Donovan, junior, and Chet Hallist, sophomore.

The champion played the back nine once alone yesterday and then joined Charley Yates of Atlanta and Roy Billows of New York for a half dozen holes. No scores were kept.

'Cockeyed Season' Says Casey Stengel

NEW YORK.—(UP)—A cockeyed baseball season—that's what Casey Stengel, the irrepressible buffoon who manages the Boston Bees, called it.

"Look at those Giants out there," Stengel said, pointing to the Terry-me in field drill. "They're shot, but they can lick us. When they had a pretty fair club and were at full strength we could hold our own with them."

As far as the National league race is concerned, Stengel said not to be sure that Pittsburgh has it won.

"The Pirates have all the best of it on the losing side," he said, "but they're floating in. Something may happen to them that they haven't counted on. Cincinnati has the strongest power in the league right now and still can cause trouble. You know I think we could have won that pennant if we hadn't had all those injuries. Look at 'em—Lopez out two months, MacFayden, Shofner and Gene Moore all crippled and lost to the Bees for from six to ten weeks. And I still think we'll finish in the first division."

During August the Bees played at the hottest pace of any club in the league, winning 20 games and losing 12. In July the club was in such a terrible plight because of injuries that when Stengel sent several pitchers to the bullpen the only men left on the Bees' bench were Stengel himself, and the two coaches, George Kelly and Mike Kelly. During this period they say that Stengel was the life of the party, keeping up the spirits of the club. When the Bees lost a game and a player had his head hanging low, Stengel would take him in hand and tell him about the time he took off his shirt and offered it to Bill Klem, the umpire.

Stengel was managing the Dodgers and it seemed that every close play in the game against the Giants went against Brooklyn.

Stengel, after losing a close decision, took of his blouse and offered it to Klem, saying: "wear this one for a change, you've been wearing the Giant uniform all afternoon."

During this cockeyed season Stengel says he saw on of the daffiest plays of his experience. "Pepper" Martin, pinch hitting, singled over first base and turned it into a home run and beat the Bees.

"After Martin singled," he related, "our rightfielder fumbled the ball, and then relayed it to Fletcher who made a throw to the plate to head off a runner. Martin went to second on the throw-in. The ball hit a corner of the plate and bounced into the stands. It was one of those crazy bounces you see only once in a lifetime. The umpires decided to award Martin two bases on it. That gave him a circuit blow on a single and beat us out of the ball game."

Jimmie Fidler in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 9.—Idol Chatter: Una Merkel's down-South drawl is my favorite sedative—two minutes conversation with her and I haven't a worry left. No woman allowed on the "Dawn Patrol" set—the flyers wear nothing but fleecy-sky suits and they peel between scenes. Peas in a pod: Joy Hodges and Josephine Dunn. Warner Baxter's a bust in Italy—the Black-shirts like him so well they have installed statues in their theater lobbies.

First picture to receive an Academy Award was "Wings"—way back in '27. Anita Louise can't decide whether to give away the white peacock a fan sent her—or to buy an estate to match the bird. M-G-M's new rave, Alan Marshall, is hauntingly reminiscent of John Gilbert. Members of the Child Welfare Association would get cold chills when the director shrieks "kill that baby"—but it's only an order to turn off a small spotlight. Even after two years' acquaintance, it always surprises me to find Bob Taylor such a "regular" guy. Secret ambition: to watch Stan Laurel's expressions when he previews the first Oliver-Hardy-Harry Langdon comedy. Wonder if it's unrequited love that keeps Olivia de Havilland from gaining back that lost weight? Today's philosophy: In this town a good line is usually the shortest distance between ambition and success.

We were discussing Clark Gable's American motorists touring in France in 1938 will be allowed a reduction in the price of gasoline.

LAGUNA DOCTOR GOES ON STAND

Featured by the examination on the witness stand of Dr. V. P. Carroll and Dr. B. J. Van Doran, of Laguna Beach, concerning medical technicalities of obstetrical cases, testimony in the $1,000 damages suit of a Laguna woman continued in Superior Judge G. K. Scofield's court all yesterday afternoon and then was recessed to be resumed at 10 a. m. Monday.

The case is that of Mrs. Phyllis R. Ponsen, 19, against Dr. A. H. Wightman, Laguna Beach physician, who also was on the stand again yesterday afternoon. The physicians all testified in behalf of the defense, which is attempting to prove Dr. Wightman proffered sufficient medical care to Mrs. Ponsen two years ago when she was an expectant mother.

Mrs. Ponsen has insistently contended that Dr. Wightman refused to give her an examination before she was taken to the hospital, and that he was negligent in treating her after her child was born. Although the plaintiff rested her case at 2 p. m. yesterday, the testimony in her interests and that of the defense was longer than expected. Clerk Mel Head and other court attaches expressed the belief the case would reach the jury by Monday noon.

Farmerettes In Training For Fair

One of the features at the Los Angeles County Fair which opens its 17-day exposition at Pomona September 16 will be the annual farmerette contest in which young women vie with one another in typical farm contests including milking, churning, etc. Left to right they are Virginia Collins, Virginia Alderson, Merlyn Heuber, Emma Cespede, Jerry Clarke, Charlena Euing, Gladys Lormer, Doris Wilson, Doris Riemour, Dorothy Browning, Artimus Hudson and Jerry Hoffman.

RECORD CROWD IS LOOKED FOR

With ideal weather certain for the third annual Orange County Fall Flower show Saturday afternoon and evening and all day Sunday and Sunday evening, an unusually large attendance is expected at the event to be held in the Valencia ballroom on 101 highway.

Decorations of the ballroom has been underway yesterday and today. Mrs. Fred Alden county chairman and Mrs. J. E. Paul, district chairman of Garden clubs of the state, federation of Women's clubs have headed arrangements for the show.

Mrs. Alden has asked those intending to make entries to observe the following rules: Any resident of Orange County is eligible to enter. Other suggestions are:

"All flowers must be amateur grown and arranged."

"Entries close at 10:30 a. m. Saturday."

"Any entry of merit will receive attention, whether in classified list or not."

"Please mark containers as management cannot be responsible for them."

"Burn dahlia stems before putting in deep cold water, or let them stand in hot water before the cold water bath."

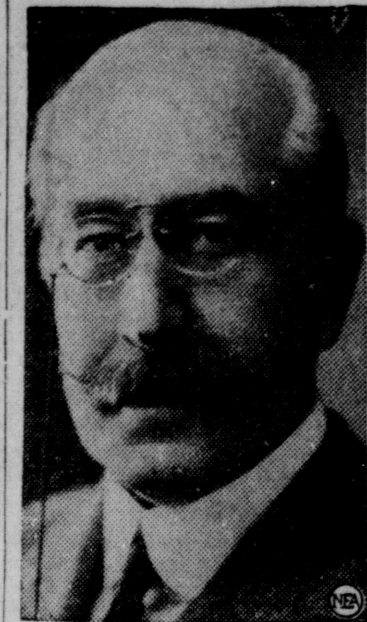

"Suggest that many flowers will keep better if cut the night before and allowed to stand in deep cold water over night."

"If entering any particular class, follow instructions carefully."

"If number of blooms is specified, enter that number, neither more nor less."

"Please bring all potted plants, flowers, vines or ferns and all flower arrangements to east door of the ballroom, which may be reached by driving either way around the building."

FAIR VISITOR ARRIVES EARLY

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—The 1937 Golden Gate International Exposition has made known the name of its first visitor. It is Miss Gladys Rodrigues of Honolulu who has arrived for the express purpose of being the first visitor to the fair and will remain here until its gates open on February 18 of next year.

DENIES THEFT OF LARGE NET

Waiving reading of the information which charged him with grand theft, Tommy Rice, 23, of Long Beach, yesterday entered a plea of not guilty when he appeared before Superior Judge James L. Allen with his attorney, G. V. Brumbaugh. Judge Allen set Thursday, September 22, as the date of Rice's trial before a jury.

Rice is accused of grand theft in connection with the disappearance of a large fish net, valued at $300, from the premises of Lawrence Fisher of Newport Beach last March 12.

According to official records in the case, Rice was captured following apprehension of two other youths, who now have returned to the employ of Fisher after having been granted probation by Judge Allen on the promise they would make restitution. Rice's two companions were taken in custody in Santa Monica shortly following the theft and where, it is asserted, the trio was trying to sell the net which had been cut up into three pieces. Rice is said to have been implicated by his alleged accomplices, who asserted Rice had influenced them to participate in the crime.

Fisher himself took the stand at the hearings for the other two in the case, according to records of William J. White, official court reporter.

CANTANDO CLUB REHEARSALS SCHEDULED TO START MONDAY

It is with even more than their customary interest that members of Cantando club are anticipating the opening rehearsal of the season next Monday night at 7:45 o'clock, in parish hall of the Episcopal church of the Messiah. For not only will the practice session be the launching of plans already well under way for the season's opening concert, but of even greater importance, it will be the first appearance before the men of their new director, Joseph J. Klein of Hollywood.

Because of this fact, and because the majority of members are now home from summer vacation travels, it is believed that practically all of them will be present. All are eager to meet the director and get started on rehearsals for the opening program. This program has been under consideration by the music committee, and very nearly all the members have been selected. This committee is under chairmanship of Harold Sprenger, appointed by the Cantando president, Orlo Householder. Miss Ruth Armstrong, accompanist and Joseph J. Klein, director, are members, as are J. E. Lloyd and Harold Pridham.

It has been of special interest to men of the club to know that their director numbers among his voice pupils, a favorite Cantando club singer, J. Willard Bassett, tenor, as well as Allan Watson, who has appeared twice as guest artist on Cantando concerts. In addition to private vocal teaching Klein is director of music at Glendale First Baptist church, of which the Rev. J. Whitcomb Brounger, Jr., is pastor, and is director of Glendale Kiwanis Singers. Since he is recognized as an outstanding voice teacher and musical director, the fact that he will spend each Monday in this city, will be of interest to vocal students.

Three Months Old Case Is Closed

A three-months-old automobile theft report was placed in the permanent files of the Santa Ana police department today with the case marked "closed."

George M. Richardson, 412 West Second, who reported his car stolen on May 24, 25 or 26, was sent to the soldiers' hospital at Napa shortly afterward and could not report the car's recovery. Yesterday a friend, Fred Parson, informed Officer Tom Kinney the car was recovered here on May 29, last.

4 CANDIDATES FILE EXPENSE ACCOUNTS

With only four more days left in which to file, five additional candidates in Orange county's August 30 primary, including two aspirants for assemblyman from the 74th district, today had submitted affidavits of receipts and expenditures at the courthouse.

The two candidates for assemblyman who filed papers were Adrian Marks, Santa Ana attorney, on the Republican ticket, and Levi C. Carlisle, on the Townsend ballot. Marks spent $47.35, the greater part of which went for advertising. Carlisle expended a total of $52, including $27 for printing and the usual $20 fee for filing.

The others, the offices they sought, and the amounts they spent are: Charles F. Mitchell, constable of Santa Ana township, $145.88; Dwight T. Hayden, justice of the peace from Tustin township, $6.40; and Homer H. Wallace, constable from Anaheim, $124.70.

Asks Divorce On Cruelty Charge

A Modjeska canyon marriage of four years ago, today had threatened to head for the rocks when Mrs. Alice M. Tabb filed a petition for divorce from Harold W. Tabb in the office of County Clerk Basil J. Smith.

Mrs. Tabb set forth that they were married in the romantic setting on March 4, 1934, that they separated only a week ago, and that she demanded custody of their two children. She asserted her mate had treated her cruelly at various times, and pleaded that the court grant her $30 monthly for the support of the children.

WORKMEN FIND OLD GOLD

PRAIRIE DE CHIEN, Wis. (UP)—Workmen excavating the ruins of old Fort Crawford unearthed a gold half-dollar of 1955 which bore the inscription "California Gold." The thin coin is less than half an inch in diameter. Three Spanish coins also were found on the site of the 120-year-old fort. They are dated 1781, 1184 and 1794 and bear the image of King Charles III.

Party Guests Present Matched Pottery To Bride-Elect

Miss Frances Was received a set of pottery in tones of rust, yellow and turquoise blue Wednesday night when she was honored at a pretty affair in the home of Miss Charlotte Mock, 1701 Bush street.

Miss Mock and Miss Ione Hoover joined in giving the party for the popular bride-elect, whose marriage to Jack Lindsey will take place this month.

Other events of the evening were preceded by the serving of dessert. Assisting the hostesses were their mothers, Mrs. Carl Mock and Mrs. P. A. Hoover. Winning prizes in bridge were Miss Virginia Sheppard and Miss Marion Doty, who held the two highest scores.

Co-Hostesses Receive St. Anne's League

It was a very pleasant hospitality which Mrs. John Marling and Mrs. Gene Hitt joined in presenting Wednesday night at the Marling home on Delhi road, with St. Anne's league members as their guests.

Amidst a flower arrangement in which big red dahlias predominated, Miss Estelle Schlesinger, league president, called a short business session. Bridge play followed with Mrs. Hans Wahlberg and Mrs. William Seely making the two prize-winning scores, after which the hostesses utilized the one table for serving refreshments.

In the party with Mrs. Marling and Mrs. Hitt were the Misses Estelle Schlesinger, Loretta Cole, Jean Gaspar, Bernice Borchard, Nellie Colombini, Mesdames Charles McCaffrey, Vincent Borchard, Arthur Wakefield, Hans Wahlberg, Bert Hoffman, Walter Markel, William Seely, Peter Prager, William Faulkner and Leonard Osterander, with one guest, Miss Berenice Thompson.

Fashion Show, Bridge Party Plans Are Completed By Y. L. I.

Scores of reservations have been made for the benefit bridge party and style revue which Capistrano Y. L. I. will give tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock in Ebell clubhouse, it was announced today by Mrs. U. J. Engelman, member of the general committee.

However, it was pointed out that will be ample provision for those who purchase their tickets at the door tomorrow, since advance reservations have given an indication of the number of tables that will be in play. Ada Wetzel, general chairman of the affair, is working with a committee composed of Mrs. Engelman and Lillian Glaab, Margaret Young, Elizabeth Paine, Dorothy Giesler, Mary Louise Dierker, Minetta Prager, and Ethel Brown.

Fall costumes from Rankins will be modeled by the Misses Gwen Griffin, Madeline Paxton, Lorene Thurlow, Lillian Breaux, Betty Vosskuhl and Mrs. Charles Borchard. Miss Patricia McGee will furnish piano music during the style show.

Dessert will be served promptly at 1 o'clock, with members of Junior Y. L. I. assisting in serving. The young people also will aid in collecting tallies and in carrying out other party plans. Contract and auction bridge and 500 will be played, with a number of prizes to be awarded.

You and Your Friends

Mrs. Malcolm Macurda and children, Audrey and Neal of El Centro, formerly of this city, who have been spending the past few weeks with their parents at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eames in North Hollywood, will be joined this week end by Mr. Macurda for the trip home. Mrs. Charles Brisco, 421 East Bishop street was a recent overnight guest of Mrs. Macurda in the Eames home.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Wilson, First street, Tustin and Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Baldwin of Pomona have returned from a several days' stay at Catalina Island. They made the trip in the Wilson boat, and took part in the commodore's cruise to the Isthmus last week end. Mrs. Wilson's mother, Mrs. M. A. Williams of Pomona, who has been visiting here for the past two weeks, leaves today for her home.

Louis Tadlock, Bob Alexander and Charles Mueller left yesterday for the High Sierras, where they will spend several days fishing. Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Tolley and son, Bill have returned to their home in Yuma, Ariz. after a visit with Mrs. Tolley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hoy, 1222 French street.

Mrs. Anna Scovel, 828 North Broadway arrived home yesterday morning after a two and a half month stay in Conway, New Hampshire, Boston, Mass. and Nebraska.

Miss Jean Jordan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Jordan, 2006 Victoria Drive will leave Monday for Galesburg, Ill. to enroll as a senior at Knox college. Her brother, Bill Jordan will depart in two weeks time for Stanford university.

Mr. and Mrs. Porter C. Edmunds, 1850 East Fruit street and W. T. Merigold of Orange left yesterday morning for Klamath, Calif. to enjoy boating and fishing. They expect to return home in two weeks.

Miss Bethel Bower, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn C. Bower, 921 South Flower street, left early this week to begin her third year studies at Los Angeles Bible Institute.

Jack Gardner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Gardner, 2026 North Main street and Frank Was, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Was, 617 Orange avenue, returned recently from a two weeks' trip. They stopped at Boulder Dam, Zion and Bryce National Parks, Grand Canyon, Carlsbad Caverns and other points.

Mrs. Lee Eibert and left recently for the state of Washington, where they are visiting with relatives. They are expected home soon.

Mrs. Walter Bacon, 1006 North Lowell street, returned this week from a five weeks' trip through the east. She traveled in company with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lippert of Inglewood. They spent some time with relatives in Olean, N. Y. and in Boston, Mass., Washington, D. C., New York City, Portland, Maine, Montreal and Detroit were included on their itinerary. The family group enjoyed visiting various historical points.

Miss Patty Rapp, daughter of the Howard Rapps, 1516 Greenleaf street, and Miss Patricia Jordan, daughter of the Clarence Jordans, 2006 Victoria Drive, left Wednesday night for Bloomington, Ind.

Prize-Winning Auxiliary Quartet

Having taken state honors for two successive years, members of American Legion Auxiliary quartet are preparing to compete again next week in the California convention events at Santa Monica. If they win this third contest they will appear at the National conclave in Los Angeles. They are from left to right, Irma Huffman May, Josephine Lykke, Zola Maag and La Vern Van Wyk. Below is pictured the director-accompanist, Ruth Armstrong.

Merry Party Inspired By Departure Plans Of Honor Guest

Charm was the distinguishing feature of a gay affair last night in the Clyde Potter home, 1010 West Fourth street, and as the party was in progress, Miss Patricia Emison, the guest of honor, was presented the group of girls forming the guest group, and the home with its flowers and hospitality.

The party was one of many planned for the last few days before Miss Emison's departure for Massachusetts and her senior year's high school studies at Rogers Hall. It was given a vivid flower setting, with all the lavish blooms culled from the gardens surrounding the home. Mrs. Potter assisted her daughter in all preparations for entertaining, and in receiving the guests and promoting their pleasures throughout the evening.

Tables were arranged for both bridge and chink-chek enthusiasts and to Miss Emison, winning in bridge, was presented the group to be added to a charming gift prize. An equally attractive gift reward, Miss Betty Mae Engelman, scoring high in chink-chek.

When refreshments were served at the conclusion of the evening, guests were grouped in foursomes around the card tables, each of which was gay with embroidered linens and bowls of vari-hued blossoms.

Harmony Bridge Club

Mrs. Mary Adrain and Mrs. Pearl Lyman were hostesses to Harmony Bridge club members Tuesday at the Rossmore, where luncheon was served at a table bright with red dahlias and Scotch heather.

The group went to Masonic temple for bridge play in which linen towels were prizes rewarding Mrs. Nellie Young and Mrs. Effie Newshanger for their high scores in contract. Mrs. Estelle McFarren and Mrs. Alice Tolhurst, auction.

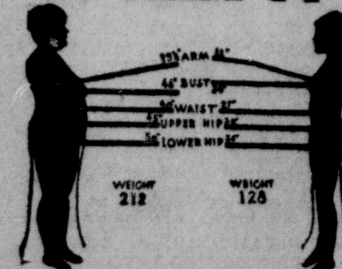

Present were Mesdames Eustace Neuschwager, Maude Swarthout, Nellie Young, Lillian Dawson, Jennie Shippe, Imogene Maxwell, Laura Kesemann, Helen Aubin, Estelle McFarren, Mildred Peddy, Carrie Cole, Clarabelle Rousseau, Alice Tolhurst, Amanda Holmes and the hostesses.

where they will study at University of Indiana. Miss Rapp will enter upon her senior year studies.

Mrs. Edith Thatcher and her sister, Miss Mabel Whiting, 506 East Chestnut street, have returned from a two months' visit with relatives and friends in Ohio and New York. They spent some time in Mt. Vernon, Ohio, with Mrs. Thatcher's son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Hoeker and in Schenectady, N. Y., with her son and daughter-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Everett Thatcher.

Mrs. Georgia B. Farren and her son, Jimmie, have returned from a several days' visit in Ventura with friends formerly of Santa Ana, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Miller and their daughter, Clarice.

Wedding Gifts Shown During Open House

Wedding gifts received by Miss Dorothy Goodner preceding her marriage Tuesday evening to the Rev. Clyde Kennedy were displayed Wednesday afternoon at an open house affair in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Goodner, 506 East Myrtle street.

Mrs. Goodner invited women of Calvary church to share the event, serving delicious fruit punch during the afternoon. Although the gifts were on display Tuesday night during the wedding, there were so many out of town guests present that the Santa Anans were given a special opportunity to view the articles yesterday.

Among those present was the Rev. Mr. Kennedy's mother, Mrs. Florence Kennedy of Los Angeles, who returned home yesterday after a few days' visit in the Goodner home. The bride's aunt, Miss Margaret Groves of Dallas, Tex., who was here for the wedding, left Wednesday morning.

Auxiliary Quartet Has Plans Completed For Entering Contest

These are busy days indeed for Auxiliary quartet members and their director, Miss Ruth Armstrong, as every available minute is given to preparation for entering the singing contest to be featured at California Legion and Auxiliary convention next week in Santa Monica.

For the local singing unit will attempt to retain laurels won at the 1936 convention in Hollywood, and again in 1937 at Stockton. This year's contest will be held next Thursday in Santa Monica High school, and if the local group wins again, it will mean entrance in the national contest in conjunction with the great Legion and Auxiliary conclave later in the month, in Los Angeles.

Miss Armstrong has directed the singing group ever since its formation, and serves as accompanist as well. There is one new member this fall, Irma Huffman May (Mrs. Arthur May) who replaces Zola Kyle, recently resigning from the quartet. With Mrs. May, who is first soprano, are Josephine Lykke, second soprano; Zola Maag, first alto, and La Vern Van Wyk, second alto.

The quartet has made countless appearances throughout the Southland during the past year, and has numerous engagements booked for the immediate future. On Friday, September 16, the singers will be programmed at the reception for National officers and distinguished guests of American Legion. This reception will be staged in La Monica auditorium, Santa Monica. Again they will sing on the State Memorial program of Saturday afternoon, September 17. The following day, they will appear in Los Angeles for the national reunion of 19th Engineers, and that same night will sing at the Hollywood Roosevelt hotel, at a banquet for Past National presidents of American Legion auxiliaries.

Couple Married Here Will Reside In Hollywood

Miss Helen Warner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Warner, 933 Cypress avenue, and Benjamin Hart, son of Mrs. Frances Hart, 507 East Twentieth street, were bride and bridegroom at pretty rites Sunday morning, September 4 in First Methodist church.

Asters in vivid autumn shades provided decorations for the double ring ceremony, read by the Rev. William H. White of Laguna Beach. Mrs. Ralph Gordon played "O Promise Me," "A Sweet Mystery of Life" and "There's a Song in My Heart."

The bride wore her traveling costume, a navy blue faille frock with dusty pink accessories and a corsage bouquet of gardenias and bouvardia. Her sister, Miss Mildred Warner, was maid of honor, wearing a Royal blue suit with blue accessories. The bridegroom's brother, Deane C. Hart was best man. Mr. and Mrs. Hart are making their home at 1819 North Kingsley Drive in Hollywood. The bridegroom, who attended Santa Ana High school, junior college and Los Angeles Woodbury Business college, is assistant cashier with Coca Cola in Los Angeles. He is a member of Gamma Epsilon Kappa fraternity. The new Mrs. Hart was president of Las Gitanas at junior college last year. She had her earlier schooling at Santa Ana High school.

Greek Letter Council Adds To Plans For Dance

Furthering plans for a gala dance to be held October 8 at San Clemente Casino, members of Inter Fraternity-Sorority Council met Thursday evening in Phi Sigma fraternity clubrooms in the Arcade.

Announcement was made that the group has its choice of one of six leading Southland bands to provide music for the occasion. Selection of the orchestra will be made in the near future.
Don Parks of Alpha Sigma fraternity, president of the Council, conducted the meeting. Others present were Phil Dowds and Lynne Carmen, Phi Sigma fraternity; Miss Fern Berkner, Sigma Tau Psi sorority; Miss Marcene Cook and Mrs. Walter Stark, Kappa Delta Phi sorority; Miss Alice Martin and Miss Henrietta Rurup, Delta Chi Sigma.

The next meeting will be held September 22 at 8 p. m. in the Alpha Sigma rooms on North Flower street.

Many Guests Received At Parties Given By Mrs. Reid

Hospitality was extended to a large group of guests early this week when Mrs. E. A. Reid entertained at two charmingly informal affairs at her home, "The Ritchey Place" on East McFadden street.

The famous old mulberry tree and many other interesting features of the garden added to the enjoyment of the affairs. Guests enjoyed such outdoor games as croquet, ping pong and badminton.

On each occasion, picnic dinner was served at a long table set beneath the sweeping branches of the historic mulberry tree. Mrs. Reid's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Manning, assisted her in entertaining.

Present at the first affair were Mr. and Mrs. Manning and small son, Douglas; Mr. and Mrs. George Wanger and sons, Bruce and Roger; Mrs. Gladys Caldwell, Jack Fredricks, Mrs. Martha Ritchey and Miss Mildred Pyatt, all of this community; and Mrs. L. Manning and son, Billie Dick, Los Angeles, with Mrs. Reid.

Thirty or more guests from Los Angeles and Hollywood took part in the second party. Buster Keaton, motion picture actor, and his mother and sister, Mrs. Myra Keaton and Miss Louise Keaton were among those in the party. Both Buster Keaton and his mother were overnight guests of Mrs. Reid.

You and Your Friends

Mr. and Mrs. James Tarpley, 606 West Eighth street, have returned from their mountain cabin near Lake Arrowhead after a two months' vacation. They entertained a number of guests from time to time. At present they are anticipating the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Carey Browne of St. Louis, Mo., who will be guests in the Tarpley home.

Mixing Bowl

BY ANN MEREDITH

Do you remember the bakeries coming out several years ago with an "orange rye" bread? I thought it was a new wrinkle and probably you did, too. But, lo and behold, going through an ancient cook book recently, there sat a recipe for making orange rye bread staring out from the page. The only difference I could see was that the old recipe used molasses for sweetening, making a darker bread than the modern version.

Old-Fashioned Orange Rye

Sponge part: 1 cup tepid water, 1 cake yeast dissolved in water. White flour to make a trick batter. Add to frothy sponge: 1 cup cooking molasses, 1 cup tepid water and 2 tps salt, 2 tps grated orange peel, 1 cup yellow corn meal. Rye flour to make a dough stiff enough to knead. Mix the dough until it can be turned onto the dye-floured board and kneaded hard for 10 minutes. Put the lump of dough into a deep oiled bowl, cover and let rise until light. Cut down, shape into loaves (3) and bake in a moderate oven one hour when the loaves are "light."

Women who have used the Safe and Sane diet, or reduced more slowly with the Eat and Grow Slim menus (published weekly, not in leaflet form) write that they have been able to lose all they wished in a reasonable length of time. If you weigh too much, why not sit down, right this minute, stamp and return-address an envelope and mail it to me with a "please send the reducing diet right away."

TODAY'S RECIPE

Herb Seasoning For Meats
1/4 ounce bay leaves
1/4 ounce thyme
1/8 ounce, each, marjoram and rosemary.
2 cloves of garlic, minced fine
1/2 cup salt.
3 leaves of the new crop of sage.

You can buy all of the ingredients but the rosemary, at your grocer's. Go to an Italian vegetable man for the rosemary. It's their sage. Roll and rub the dried herbs until like fine dust. Mix with salt and garlic, bottle tightly and let stand a week before using. In stews, or spaghetti dishes, this is the seasoning that ends all seasonings. Try it with veal chops, with pork chops, or pot-roast.

Perfect Home-Canned Tomato Juice

A year ago, to satisfy my own curiosity, I began to make some tests with canned tomato juice (the home variety) to determine why it invariably separated and looked so anaemic. I tried various things, none of them any good, until liquid peeling was used, and that did the trick. Eight-ounce glasses of the processed tomato juice were left in the refrigerator undisturbed, for 24 hours, 36 hours, 48 hours, and all three test glasses looked exactly as when placed in the refrigerator; the color was ripe and red, the texture that good thick one that shows all of the tomato went into the juice, and what was most important, pulp and liquid did not separate. This is how it was done:

Wash, but do not peel, any quantity of tomatoes, slice and simmer until well pulped, adding a little water. Strain pulp and liquid through a sieve and reheat to boiling point, first measuring quantity.

To each cup of boiling juice add 1/8 tsp. each, salt and sugar 1/2 tsp liquid peeling. Boil up once, take off fire and stir frequently during a 10-minute interval. Bottle in absolutely sterile bottles or jars, securely sealed.

S. E. A. Club Affair Held In Garden Setting

Gardens of the R. T. Brown home, 922 South Ross street, were rendezvous for members of S.E.A. Women's club Wednesday afternoon when they were entertained by Mrs. Brown and Mrs. William Doyle. Miss Winifred Brown, daughter of the home, assisted in serving refreshments at a long table brightened with asters from the gardens. After a pleasant outdoor session, guests repaired to the house for card play.

Mrs. J. C. Hart and Mrs. H. C. Oliver were rewarded for their high scores in bridge, while Mrs. E. A. B. Smith received traveling prize. Table awards went to Mrs. M. W. Ball, Mrs. Doyle and Mrs. Marvin Brown.

Present with the two hostesses were Mesdames E. A. B. Smith, J. C. Hart, Fayette Blower, G. W. Serr, Glenn Tramel, O. K. Sutcliffe, H. R. Cole, A. C. W. Stokes, M. Davis, Anne Wetherell and Elaine W. Ball, H. C. Oliver and Marvin McKeenolds.

Brown. The next meeting will be held Wednesday, October 12 in the home of Mrs. Oliver, 540 West Malvern, Fullerton, with Mrs. Sutcliffe as co-hostess.

Miss Pritchard Gives Informal Affair

The game of "Indications" proved high point of the evening when Miss Virginia Pritchard entertained a small group of friends Wednesday night in her home, 2118 Greenleaf street.

Refreshments were served late in the evening when the young hostess presided at a candlelit table centered with white tapers and snowy asters.

Guests of Miss Pritchard included the Misses Virginia Wilson, Ruth Greenwald, Ruth Budd, Geraldine Gilbert, LaVonne Prandson, Joyce Wentworth, Ruth Liggett, Carolyn H. R. Cole, A. C. W. Stokes, M. Davis, Anne Wetherell and Elaine W. Ball, H. C. Oliver and Marvin McKeenolds.

Mayflower Club

Mrs. J. W. Parkinson's home, 226 East Edinger street was scene Tuesday afternoon of a meeting of Mayflower club for which Mrs. F. W. Sanford was co-hostess. Cards were played, and an inviting refreshment course was served. Guests were Mrs. Sanford's ham and E. E. Frisby.

NAME CITIZENS' COMMITTEE ON BOND ISSUE

2000 BALLOTS MAILED VOTERS

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 9.—Fifty representative citizens, forming a cross section of all activities in every locality of Laguna Beach, were named yesterday as a citizens' committee to further the passage of the pending $30,000 library bond election, set for September 19.

Post Endorses Issue
The American Legion post 222 has endorsed the proposed issue, which, if carried, will be supplemented by a 45 per cent grant of federal funds, application for which is now on file.

Over 2000 sample ballots, with precinct instructions, were mailed out by City Clerk Ed. H. Beaver yesterday and arrangements made for absentee ballots to be cast by residents expecting to be away on election day. Many localities will be attending the American Legion convention in Los Angeles, and those voters, with others, will take advantage of the absentee ballots.

Three Polling Places
Three polling places will be established, each of which combines several regular precincts: Community playground, 319 Ocean avenue, includes election precincts 1, 2 and 3; at American Legion hall, 284 Legion street, precincts 4 and 5 will combine, and at 1758 South Coast boulevard, near Pearl street, precincts 6 and 7 will cast their ballots.

Motor Unions Go On Strike

SAN JOSE, Calif., Sept. 9.—(UP)—Four San Jose motor trades unions today went on strike against 29 automobile sales agencies, garages and service stations.

The Santa Clara county labor council said the strike was called because employers refused to negotiate for a "master contract" with union auto mechanics, clerks, salesmen and miscellaneous employees.

The unions charged the employers intended to cut wages, increase hours and remove the preferential shop clause from present contracts.

TOWNSEND NOTES

Serving of ice cream, cake, coffee and sandwiches by women of the Townsend clubs of Santa Ana will be one of the features of the big Saturday night mass meetings scheduled for the Townsend hall between the hours of 5 and 9 o'clock.

U. S. Defense Plans Speeded

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—(UP)—Speeding preparation for national defense, the war department today announced contact awards of $7,258,255 for ordnance equipment for troops in the field.

The orders included carriages for anti-aircraft guns, technical ranging-instrument equipment powder making equipment and other machinery to serve big guns which would repel any enemy invasion. These contract awards followed awards and allocations totaling $10,000,000 for anti-aircraft guns and gun carriages announced by the United Press earlier this week. It was understood allocations are being made immediately to the various government arsenals for gun forging for gun barrels.

BOURBONS OPEN COUNTY DRIVE

Initial steps in Democratic campaign activity will be taken at a meeting at the Home cafe Monday noon when Gilbert Olson, Bourbon nominee for governor, his campaign manager in Southern California, J. Frank Burke, and Democratic leaders from all parts of the county meet.

Among the special guests of honor will be J. Wayne Harrison, county Democratic election affairs, Harry R. Sheppard, Democratic nominee for U. S. Representative from the 19th District, Clyde Watson, Democratic nominee for state assembly from the 74th district, and Burr Brown, Democratic nominee for state assembly from the 75th district.

Hoarce C. Head, chairman of the Orange County Assembly of Democrats and B. Z. McKinney, chairman of the Orange County Central committee will be in charge of the meeting. Mrs. Mac B. Geeting is in charge of arrangements for the affair.

Among those expected to be present at the meeting are the 23 newly elected members of the county Democratic central committees. Pierson Hall, campaign manager for Sheridan Downey, Democratic nominee for U. S. Senator, has been invited to attend the meeting and has promised to personally attend or to have a representative present. The public is invited to the meeting.

Police News

Joe Cenceros, 220 South Artesia, admitted to police last night that he had made a mistake. Complaining that service station employees from whom he had purchased a set of new tires had his car and wouldn't give it back to him, Cenceros asked police to come to his "rescue." The police learned Cenceros, in making the tire purchase, had mortgaged his car with the tire dealers. "I didn't know I was mortgaging the car," Cenceros said. "I'll see what can be done to straighten out the problem tomorrow."

A howling dog who was either smart or sleepy fooled Officers Ralph Pantuso and Clyde Fowler last night. Upon report of an annoying citizen that the dog was howling in front of a home in 1400-block of West Sixth street at 1:50 a. m., the officers dashed to the spot. "We couldn't find nor hear a single dog," the reported later. "We sat in front of the place 15 or 20 minutes. The dog must have been awfully smart or awfully sleepy."

Plead Guilty To Traffic Charges

Five persons charged with speeding and three charged with boulevard stop violations pleaded guilty before City Judge J. G. Mitchell yesterday here.

The speeders and fines assessed against them include John McWilliams, Ontario, and Francisco Talamantez, Santa Ana, $3 each; Leland Auer, Brea, and William Hale, Placentia, $6 each, and Beavard stop violators who were fined $5 each include Alice Taulbee, Route 1, Santa Ana; Ruth Griffith, Riverside, and Gilmer Valentine, Santa Ana. Talamantez paid 85 cents of his fine and agreed to work out the remainder.

Mexican Miners Plan Strike

CANANEA, Sonora, Mex., Sept. 9.—(UP)—Mexican federal troops were reported marching here from Hermosillo, Mex., today to prevent bloodshed and disorder in a threatened general strike of workers at the Cananea Consolidated Copper Company, rich mining center below the Arizona border.

The troops were reported dispatched by Gov. Roman Yucopico of Sonora as Federal Director of Labor Villa Lobos sped from Mexico City by plane in an effort to settle the dispute before the strike called for next Wednesday. The workers, believed to be a minority at the mine, handed an ultimatum to the copper company after negotiations for higher wages and improved working conditions reached a deadlock.

Wine Producers Hold Conclave

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 9.—(UP)—Wine producers of California, New York, Illinois and other grape raising states met here today with federal trade commission officials to discuss fair trade rules for the wine industry.

The conference, first of its kind ever held by the commission in the industry, was convened at the request of California growers. R. E. Freer, F. T. C. official, headed the conferees.

Rules to govern competition in the industry, as suggested by California, include prohibiting of sub-cost sales; price discrimination; unlawful rebates, refunds and discounts; and other similar practices regarded as unlawful or unethical.

ANNUAL OUTDOOR DINNER HELD BY LAGUNA BEACH LEGION POST

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 9.—Nearly 200 guests attended last night's American Legion pot luck dinner, annual outdoor high spot in Legion activities, held in Cresse's Grove, Laguna Canyon road. Following the supper, awards were granted to the three Legionnaires adjudged winners in the membership contest drive which closed yesterday.

Boys Arrested On Theft Charge

Two Santa Ana boys, both 18 years old, were booked at county jail yesterday on charges of attempted petty theft after they confessed attempting to steal gasoline from a tractor belonging to Victor De Sutter, Route 4, Santa Ana. Deputy Sheriffs Steve Duhart and Ives Brown reported.

The boys pleaded guilty to the attempt charge in Tustin and will be sentenced tomorrow, officers said. According to the investigation, the boys have been suspected of numerous gasoline thefts but have never been caught in the act.

Hoover Starts Speaking Tour

OGDEN, Utah, Sept. 9.—(UP)—Former President Hoover today attacked what he characterized as President Roosevelt's proposal "that the New Deal be converted into a major political party."

He said that such a party might be "more bedlamite than liberal." Enroute to New York from his Palo Alto home Mr. Hoover announced a schedule of three speeches "to explore" the president's proposal. He said he would speak in Kansas City September 28; in Hartford, Conn., October 17; and in Spokane, Wash., November 4 and 5. He said the speeches would be under auspices of the state's respective Republican committees.

Hundreds Flock To State Fair

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 9.—(UP)—State employees of California, released by the Admission holiday, today crowded the state fair and participated in special program highlights.

In addition to the 20,000 state workers, county supervisors from all parts of the state attended. Two of the main races on the afternoon racing program were the state employees derby and county supervisors classic. Retail meat dealers was a third group honored. Livestock auctions in both junior and senior divisions were set for today, a day after the $2,000,000 livestock parade held yesterday on the occasion of Governor's Day.

Music, singing and a blindfold ice cream contest between Earle Stevenson and Earle Weber, each feeding the other by sense of direction, were features of the entertainment provided by the committee in charge. Mr. and Mrs. Russell Norton, prominent in Legion work in Orange county; Allan Russell, Spanish War veteran, and four-months-old Fred Warman, 3rd, Laguna's first "son-of-a-son-of-a-Legionnaire," were given accolades upon their introduction by Harold Myers, toastmaster of the evening.

Arrangements were handled under Commander Harold Reed, by committees of the Legion and Legion auxiliary.

RETURN TO CHICAGO
SAN CLEMENTE, Sept. 9.—Charles Erickson, who was called here two weeks ago by the serious illness of his daughter, Mrs. Willard Halseth, has returned to his home in Chicago. Mrs. Herbert Carlson and Mrs. Calvin Peterson, who accompanied their father from Chicago, are remaining for a longer visit with their sister and with their aunt, Mrs. Fred Abel. Mrs. Charles Erickson, with her daughter and son-in-law since June, will remain until Mrs. Halseth has fully recovered.

Seabiscuit Goes East; May Winter In Fla.

DEL MAR, Sept. 9.—(UP)—Seabiscuit, Charles S. Howard's much traveled campaigner for stake purses, was en route to Chicago today where he will run in the Hawthorne Gold Cup race Sept. 17.

From Chicago, the 'Biscuit is expected to make a tour of the eastern race circuits in an attempt to boost his yearly winnings. Trained Tom Smith said no definite plans for the winter racing season have been made. It has been rumored the bay horse will stay east for the Florida winter races because Owner Howard believes his horse will be given lighter weights there than on the Pacific Coast.

Poland has approximately 1000 military ships.

Stamp News

By C. W. Clarke

Coming Events
Sept. 10th, first issue of President Taylor 12c stamp from Washington, D. C.
Sept. 22nd, first issue of President Filmore 12c stamp from Washington, D. C.
Sept. 28th, first issue of President Harding 12c stamp from Washington, D. C.
Each Saturday, 12 to 12:15 noon, broadcast of National Stamp clubs over KFI.
A. P. S. at New Orleans
New Orleans is preparing to welcome you October 10th. You have heard of New Orleans and have always planned on seeing "America's Most Interesting City" so the annual convention of the American Philatelic Society is your excuse for coming if an excuse is needed.
The entertainment committee is trying its best to make your stay interesting as well as educational. The only way to see the "Old Quarter" is to travel it on foot under capable guides and Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 11th, has been set aside for this. Then, after you have been given the high lights by the guides, you will want to put in every spare minute during your stay merely browsing around—in and out of the antique shops, stamp shops, court yards, etc.
The post office department is supplying a special cancellation for all mail posted at the A.P.S. exhibition post office during the 1938 convention at New Orleans, October 10th to 14th.
First day covers of the special cancellation and poster stamps of the event will be serviced gratis by William H. Wynne, exhibition chairman, P. O. Box 1429, New Orleans, La. The poster stamps are the each or 1 for 25c, plus postage. Special mailing envelopes have been prepared to assure safe delivery of the poster stamps.
There will be some very interesting U. S. exhibits shown at the convention.
Official headquarters for the 53rd annual convention of the American Philatelic Society will be at the Roosevelt hotel, New Orleans.
Van Buren and Harrison First Day Sales
First-day sales—St. Van Buren regular issue stamp: August 11, 1938—Covers, $4.57. Stamp sold, $4.57.
Washington post office, 120.446 — $4.57.58. Stamps sold at Philatelic Agency, $2.74—$4.52.58.
First-day sales — 5c William Henry Harrison regular issue stamp: August 11, 1938—Covers, $1.25. Stamp sold, Washington post office, 101.154 — $1.02.86. Stamp sold at Philatelic Agency, 73.236—$4.51.24.
Standard Catalog of Japan
Ichiro Yoshida, editor of the Japanese Standard Catalog of the Japan Stamp Standard Catalog of the Japan stamps has just issued the 1938 catalog. It is printed in English and Japanese, has 112 pages and 336 illustrations. It costs $1 and can be had from The Kinsu, 3600 Meiji-cho, Tokyo, Japan.
S. F. Fair Placed On Postal Cancellation
Mail originating in San Francisco on now carries a special cancellation bar which reads: Golden Gate International Exposition, 1939.
The special cancellation was used for the first time on August 18, exactly six months before the opening of the World's Fair of the West on February 15, 1939, and its use will be continued until the closing of the Exposition on December 2, 1939.
U. S. Planning 1939 World Fair Stamps
Special commemorative stamps in connection with the 1939 World Fairs in San Francisco and New York are eight. Postoffice Department officials disclosed today. Although nothing has been decided yet, officials indicated either two or three stamps commemorating both exhibitions will be issued. They would be of the lower denominations, probably a one, two and three-cent set.
It is recalled that special stamps were issued in connection with the Chicago World Fair and the Texas Exposition.
Are you one of those people who cross the street to avoid meeting them. Why do such people act like they do? Sociologists claim that the majority of these human beings, who apparently have grown up too fast, have become so as a result of too much worry, the fact of which they are not wholly conscious.

Naturally, you don't want to slip into this set or society, so if you are a business man or woman who is working into the very small hours about that job of yours, or if you happen to be one of those unfortunate who is working overtime about the job you don't have, or even if the worrying is confined to personal things, your family, your health and such, may I suggest a sure cure, the prescription of which you can fill yourself? For, set yourself now and then, pigeon-hole that fruitless worrying, and devote the vacated time to that silent friend you've tucked into the bookcase—your stamp collecting hobby.
A restless hobby in which you are genuinely interested, as you, a reader of this magazine, must be in stamp collecting, is a sure cure for overtime worrying—that mental bit of life that makes you feel that you are not getting on. A hobby is intended as a relaxation from daily fatigue, so take a tip and don't grow up too fast. Enjoy living more by enjoying your hobby more—Richard A. Scott, Weekly Stamp Gossip.
Any questions on stamps will be gladly answered by C. W. Clarke, 1322 N. Garvey.

Static-free radio telephone transmission between airplane pilots and landing field attendants may, soon be a practical reality. Flight instructor, who is a "pilot" of a new ultra-high frequency apparatus show the system to be substantially impervious to adverse weather.

SERIAL STORY

PHOTO FINISH

BY CHARLES B. PARMER
COPYRIGHT, 1938
NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
LINDA GORDON—heroine. She gave up Manhattan to return to her Blue Grass.
BRUCE RADFORD—newspaperman. He would give up anything for Linda.
UNCLE SANDY—horseman. He would give up anything, too, for a good horse.
MONTY HILL—rich racing devotee. He also wanted Linda.

Yesterday Linda gets two more assignments on the strength of her first story. Then Bruce calls to say he wants to see her about Golden Toy.

CHAPTER XI

THERE was no beating about the bush with Linda. "What's this about Golden Toy?" she asked, the instant she greeted Bruce Radford on the hotel's mezzanine.

"First—my thanks to you," his shoulders straightened; he looked her squarely in the eye. A change had come over him; he seemed soft no longer.

"Thanks—for what?" she asked.

"For waking me up."

"How—waking you up?"

"When I found you were a competitor I went to work too. I filed my yarn last night. Did you?"

She nodded. "Sit down here," she drew him to a couch half-hid in the shadows. "I'm glad, Bruce, that you came to bat. Our yarns will be printed the same week. I didn't want to scoop you, because of what you did for Uncle," she looked up into his eyes.

"What did I do?" he asked innocently.

"You gave him back a batch of notes you could have collected."

"Oh, that," he shrugged shoulders, as if it were nothing. "Uncle told me he had left one last note downtown, for me to get it. He died that night; the trust company beat me to his desk. Found it. I talked to them—finally I yelled and cursed—but they wouldn't give it up. So they called Mister Sandy in. I couldn't stop 'em."

"Bruce, you were a peach!"

IMPULSIVELY, she leaned over; her lips touched his cheek lightly. His face flamed red.

"Aw, say!" he mumbled, embarrassed. He got to his feet. Frowned down at her. "I was going to say something about Golden Toy, wasn't I?"

She nodded up at him.

"Just this," he put his arms akimbo a moment, "I know Brown Donald. You don't wait!"

He spoke quickly, dropping his arms, as her face grew tense. "Just want to say, if the two of you can't agree on anything—such as—as whether to make a lepper or a flat-runner out of him—"

"He's a flat-runner," she said quickly.

"All right. Then if you bust up about the color of the chaise in the moon—well, I've got 50 cents or so. I'll buy his share; and let you campaign him, while I write. Fair enough?"

She shook her head. "There'll be no trouble between us." She got up. "Donald and I—everything's lovely."

He looked at her quizzically. "Lovely?" he repeated.

She nodded. "I'm driving to Berwyn this afternoon—to see tomorrow's cup race."

"Oh!" He bit his lips. "Well, be seeing you at the Downs. Going to make my headquarters in Louisville for a spell. S'long!"

He walked off, without looking back. She heard him clatter down the marble steps—

BEFORE nightfall she came to a community of large estates; owned, not by native horse folk, but by millionaires who set themselves up in the English tradition: with hunting lodges, private steeplechase courses behind well-guarded walls.

Long shadows had fallen over the rolling hills when Brown Donald in white coat, light sports coat and riding breeches, swung into the inn's low-roofed main room. "Linda!" the name came naturally to his lips, as he seized both her hands.

He took her to dinner, driving in his roadster to an eating house a league down the country road.

"Golden Toy will make—"

He began, as they ate heavy beefsteak and kidney pie.

"Not a jumper," she broke in quickly, but smiling at him. "He's a flat-runner, Don."

"(She felt so at home with him!) "We're going after the Jockey Club Stakes at the Downs next month. He's had a bit of training."

He thought a moment. "Maybe you're right," he conceded. "Still, I wanted to own my own jumper. You see—"

Dinner forgot, he leaned over the table, poured himself out to her:

"I'm of the unwanted generation, Linda. Came out of college to sell bonds, only there're no people to buy 'em. Nobody wanted a well-turned-out chap like me. So, I knew a bit of horses—I'm lucky with 'em—and I began riding for friends; winning gold cups."

Her face sobered. He sensed something. "You've heard things—about me. Haven't you?"

She nodded. Said: "But I didn't believe them."

"You heard," his thin lips set in a straight line an instant, "that I'm kept by Merle—whose horse I ride?"

Again she nodded, her face drained of color.

He grimaced. "Let's be honest—between each other. It's true—in a way. I stay at her house while riding in this section; and she did pay my hospital bills last spring when I come a cropper at Pinehurst. But I swear I've never taken a dollar—except for expenses. I'm—I'm just a retainer, in the English sense. Now you understand why I want this Golden Toy to—make me a free man? If we can win a big stake, then buy one or two more horses—get a winning stable—come on, let's go out in the moonlight!"

ABRUPTLY he got up, carried her out to his car. "Now that you know what a bum I am," he began, as they drove off, "object to being my partner?"

"Object?" She put her hand on his arm an instant, leaned toward him. "Don, I understand!"

He moved his arm to shift gears—drove on, turned into a wooded lane. "There's a spot down here"—he didn't finish the sentence; slowed up to tool around sharp curves. Then abruptly they came upon it:

A rising knoll; beneath it a tree-lined lake, shimmering like liquid silver in the moon's rays. "Come," he said, stopping, and taking her hand. He led her to a live oak, with branches drooping down into the waves.

"I've always wanted to sit here—"

He spoke huskily, so low that she scarcely heard him: "I—I wish we'd met two years ago."

One hand on the ground, she was leaning closely to him. "But there's always the eternal now," she whispered.

For a long moment he did not answer. Below them wavelets lapped against stones somewhere, far off, a cricket chirped.

Again he was looking at her—wistfully, as if she were precious and beyond his grasp. "You're lovely—lovely, and as gossamer as moonlight and dreams."

His arms reached out for her; he found her lips.

A dark cloud drifted under the moon; the earth was draped in purple shadows.

STUPIDITY! MUST HAVE BEEN—STILL HOW COULD THEY HAVE MADE SUCH A FATAL BLUNDER? THERE'S SOMETHING FISHY ABOUT IT—

I'LL SAY THERE IS, BOSS—OUR BOYS WERE TRICKED—

TRICKED? HOW COULD THEY HAVE BEEN TRICKED?

DAT OTHER TRUCK—OUR BOYS PULLED OUT TO PASS HIM—DEY COULDN'T MAKE IT—WHY?

D'GUY WAS LOADED HEAVY—OR WAS HE? AND EVEN IF HE WAS EMPTY, OUR BOYS SHOULD HAVE PASSED HIM EASY—

SURE—BUT WHOEVER WAS DRIVIN' DAT OTHER TRUCK WAS NO SUCKER—HE COULD DRIVE—

YEAH—DEM TRACKS TOLD PLENTY—OUR BOYS FIGGERED ON NUDGIN' HIS TRAILER TO START HIM SPINNIN'—

HUH! AND JUST THEN DIS GUY, HE CRACKED TH' WHIP AN' FEED OUR BOYS HIS TRAILER—RIGHT ON TH' NOSE!

Hold Discussion On Bond Project

PLACENTIA, Sept. 9. — More than 15 men and women of the community met Wednesday night at the Chamber of Commerce hall to discuss the coming bond election for establishing water system and erecting a city hall and fire station. P. H. Mattner, secretary of the chamber, presented figures to show the economic value of a city owned water system.

"Kellogg's Rice Krispies — that she crackles"

JOIN THE CRISPNESS CHORUS

Silly cartoon, isn't it — but Kellogg's Rice Krispies is a whole of a good cereal! It has matchless crispness — that crackles in milk or cream! — and a distinctive, delicious flavor. These toasted rice bubbles make a big hit with every one from Junior to Grandpa!

Your grocer sells Rice Krispies, ready to serve. Wholesome, easy to digest. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Our Children

LEARNING TO READ

At the beginning of each school term we get anxious queries from mothers of first graders. "Why does the teacher not teach the children their A B C's? The little one is learning words in sentences and does not know the word by itself. He reads whole pages, but that is from memory only. He can't read new words or even old ones if they are not in the order of the story."

Wait a little while and he will be able to recognize the words he knows in any context. And soon after that he will be using phonetic elements to help him read new words. Last of all he will learn his alphabet. By that time he will have mastered the sounds of all the letters, will be able to apply them fairly well in his reading of new material.

The teacher tells the class a story, exactly as it stands in the reader. From the story she takes one sentence; prints it on the board; reads it; then lets the children read it, as a sentence, not in individual words. When they can do that she picks out a distinctive word; prints that by itself; says it aloud; has the children say it. When they know it pretty well she takes off its first letter, a consonant; sounds it; lets the class sound it; name the letter and sound it again and relate it to the word from which it was taken. Now she prints it on a card and lays it aside for tomorrow. Tomorrow's lesson repeats this one, adds another word, another sound, and so on until, by and by, the child has a vocabulary, has knowledge of the sounds of vowels and consonants and can use them independently. Now he reads from his reader these familiar stories. He will read them first by memory, from the context, and the teacher will arrange to use these words in a fresh story, and he will read under his own power. It usually takes from one year to eighteen months in elementary school, to accomplish this miracle.

Reading is the most important subject for a child to master. If he learns to read, in the highest sense of reading, he has an open door to an education he needs or desires. Too often the children only learn to read words. They call the words accurately, but they have little or no meaning for them. This is easily discovered. Let the child read a story, or an interesting paragraph, shut the book, wait a couple of minutes and tell what it was he read. If he tells a clear story, without clinging tightly to memorized texts, he is reading. If he tries to recite the text, he is not reading; he is calling words.

This is one of the most critical stages of a child's learning. If he is not taught in the early years of the elementary course, to read for meaning, he is going to be handicapped the rest of the way. If he learns to read intelligently at the start, he has a big hold on success in the upper courses of his schooling.

Reading in the first year, and the second year, should be taught by experts in the education of little children. It is a grave mistake to assign the beginners to beginning teachers. Only experts, of experience and proven ability, should do this work, and they ought to be paid in accordance with the experts, the valuable educators that they are.

Mr. Patri has prepared a leaflet entitled, "Self-Measuring Chart," which teaches a child how to examine himself and check up on his behavior. Send for it, addressing your request to Mr. Angelo Patri, Child Psychology Department of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope. (Copyright, 1938, The Bell Syn., Inc.)

LOS ANGELES TIMES' VALUABLE SERVICE

The Los Angeles Times, in carrying up their contempt of court case, is performing a valuable service to every citizen in the United States. The case in itself is not of much importance to the Los Angeles Times because the fines were only a few hundred dollars but the principle of citizens and newspapers having the right to express opinions on the acts of the court is of the utmost importance to the American aspiration of an approach to a free enterprise system.

The Times was fined for commenting on a case and the court ruled that there might have been an appeal and, thus, the comments of a newspaper might come to the eyes, or ears, of a judge who might be called upon to pass on the case and who might thereby be influenced even subconsciously and without his knowledge.

For a court to rule that this is contempt of court and punishable as such, would so delay a discussion of the decisions of the court as to make them almost complete dictators and prevent almost any criticism.

As stated above, every newspaper and every citizen in the land is under obligation to the Times for carrying their cases, as they say they will, to the Supreme Court.

And with the present make-up of the Supreme Court, it is very difficult to imagine what the decisions of that august body will be.

SANTA ANAS ASKED TO SUBSCRIBE

Santa Ana citizens will be asked to subscribe for $700,000 worth of bonds. The people who will manage the business, have never had any business experience or any tests, except memory tests. The corporation will be run, not in proportion to the amount each man contributes to it but the pauper and the man who never has contributed his own weight, will have the same say as to how the corporation shall operate as the largest contributor to society.

The business of this corporation will be a very dangerous and hazardous business. It will be infinitely more dangerous than the manufacturing and sale of gun powder, opium or any narcotic. It is the training of the most delicate thing in all the world—the training of the human mind of the youth.

In addition, those who manage the funds received for these bonds, have seen to it by law that in a short time all those who have been employed for three years cannot be discharged without proving their incompetence to a third party. Anyone knows that proof of this kind is almost impossible.

On September 23, people will decide whether they will subscribe for these $700,000 worth of bonds. It is true that $385,000 of them will be subscribed direct from this territory and the other $315,000 will be subscribed here but will go through Washington.

How can a man with discrimination and foresight subscribe to bonds with these handicaps in their prospect of benefitting society? He certainly would never buy any of them. Then what right has he to vote for someone else to pay for them?

The Nation's Press

THE LEAGUE ON THE NEW DEAL (New York Times)

First and foremost, it may be even more difficult now than it was in 1930 to restore confidence among business men and so stimulate private expenditure on capital improvement. . . .

Increased government intervention in economic affairs may also restrain business enterprise in certain ways. The prospect of policies which attempt to cure the depression through raising wage rates in order to increase purchasing power may reduce the willingness of private business to embark on capital extensions in view of the prospects of higher operating costs.

Other measures of economic reform, such as control of the market for new security issues in the United States, may restrain activity by increasing costs or the difficulties of obtaining new capital.

These passages are from the "World Economic Survey" published by the League of Nations. They constitute restrained and indirect but well-considered and unmistakable criticisms of some of the economic policies of the New Deal. There are two possible courses regarding them. One is to dismiss the League's economists as just another group of reactionaries who are against bringing the past up to the present. The other is to weigh their criticisms carefully to determine to what extent they may be justified.

STOP THIEF! (Chicago Tribune)

Twenty-one million families paid 740 million dollars last year to private power companies for home lighting and juice for electric ice boxes, washing machines, irons, and clocks. The average family power bill figures out to the $24.18 for an entire year, or less than 10 cents a day.

Lighting the house and running the household appliances costs the family about as much as beer or coffee. It is a little more than the amount spent at movies. It is a good deal less than the cost of smokes.

This little item, less than 2 per cent of the budget of an average family, has been the subject of a large amount of the effort of the Roosevelt administration. Billions of dollars are being spent by the government to create hydro-electric power, and to finance its distribution by municipalities, upon the pretext of helping the common man! With pad and pencil it can soon be determined that if the government provided free all of the power now supplied by the utility companies the resulting saving in average household costs would be less than would be brought about by a small cut in the cost of food. And don't forget that what is received from the government gratuitously, be it power or a franked speech of a congressman, is paid for directly or indirectly in taxes.

Agitators, without anything to prove it, always assume that there is something in electric power which makes the supplying of it a public function. We had an example of that the other day when L. J. Wilhite, head of the municipal power authority, was asked by the TVA investigating committee whether he and his associates were not trying to ruin private power companies. Said Mr. Wilhite: "We call it the

RETARDING PRODUCTION

One of the writers in "You and Your Nation's Affairs" remarked the other day that it is very difficult to write any tax law that does not retard production. And with the ever increasing demand for taxes, this truism should be more and more considered.

But there is a great difference in the amount which the different tax systems retard production and there is great difference in the kind of production it retards.

We should aim at the tax system that, as little as possible, retards the production of the very common necessities of life. And if there must be any retarding in production, it should retard things that are not used as necessities.

Taxing a man for adding to the wealth of the world and adding to the tax duplicate, does more to retard production than any other kind of a tax system. That is the kind of a tax system the United States adopted a quarter of a century ago. If we would reverse it, and tax a man because he rapidly consumed, or destroyed, wealth in satisfying his own pleasures and rapidly reduced the tax duplicate, this method would retard production less than any other method we have ever heard of.

And we cannot divide more than is produced. Any system that retards production affects the humblest worker. This is true because those people with large incomes will have practically all the comforts of life whether production is large or small, but the humblest worker, when it costs him too much energy to get more comforts, is obliged to do without these comforts when their production is retarded by bad tax laws. So, bad tax laws are of more importance to the great mass of humble workers who are above the charity group than any other class.

BETTER NEWSPAPERS, A GREAT NEED

One of the things that this country needs as much as anything else is better newspapers throughout the land—Newspapers that have the principles back of them that Benjamin Franklin had back of the newspaper he published.

And if people would demand the kind of a newspaper that Franklin gave them, there would be more of them. On this subject, Franklin said, "Whenever I was solicited to insert anything of personal abuse, and the writers pleaded, as they generally did, the liberty of the press, and that a newspaper was like a stage-coach, in which any one who would pay had a right to a place, my answer was, that I would print the piece separately if desired, and the author might have as many copies as he pleased to distribute himself, but that I would not take upon me to spread his detraction; and that, having contracted with my subscribers to furnish them with what might be either useful or entertaining, I could not fill their papers with private altercation, in which they had no concern, without doing them manifest injustice."

Would that papers of today were careful to print only things useful or entertaining to the readers and not give half-truths and not sell covetousness, envy and hate in order to appeal to the people who do not think through complicated questions!

POLITICAL FOG

When we get away from the Universal Rule, or equality before the law, or an attempt to approach free enterprise, or the competitive system, we are like a man traveling in foggy weather. "Those at some distance before him on the road he sees wrapped up in the fog, as well as those behind him, and also the people in the fields on each side, but near him all appears clear, though in truth he is as much in the fog as any of them."

That is exactly what is happening now, both in the Republican and the New Deal parties; when they attempt to further regulate the lives of men, they are in a fog. They think they can see how the lives of men should be regulated, if they are only given control. But history proves that not even a father can regulate the lives of his own children and select their occupations. If a father, whose motives would be for the best interest of the child, cannot do this, it is a fantasy to believe that politicians, whose main interest is keeping their control and thus their interest is prejudiced, could wisely regulate the lives of each individual. If they really believe they can, they are in a fog.

Probably they do not even believe it, but desire the power that this scheme would give them and they enjoy it as long as the public will put up with it.

right of the people to operate their utilities." They have the undoubted right to operate any kind of business, utilities, moving picture shows, or grocery stores. But the right to engage in the other lines of business has not yet been used as an excuse for using public money to ruin private business men.

The public ownership of power is a racket used by politicians as an excuse for spending money and by radicals for getting communism started. It has no justification whatever as a means of combating the high cost of living. If the New Dealers really want to reduce living costs of the average man, they do not have to go to work on a $34 item. The opportunity is in the tax bill which the average man pays directly to the tax collector or indirectly in the higher cost of things he buys. The federal government expenditures alone this year are equal to $350 per family. In addition the federal government is offering an inducement to every city and state to increase its expenditures and therefore the amount that must be collected in taxes. If the annual tax bill of the country were reduced to where it was when Mr. Roosevelt took office, the resulting annual saving in indirect and direct taxes to the average American family would be six times the cost of the annual electric bill.

The Roosevelt administration is a fellow who collects $350 for services of doubtful value, and gets wildly excited about the overcharge in some other person's bill for $34.18, for services which every one requires and appreciates.

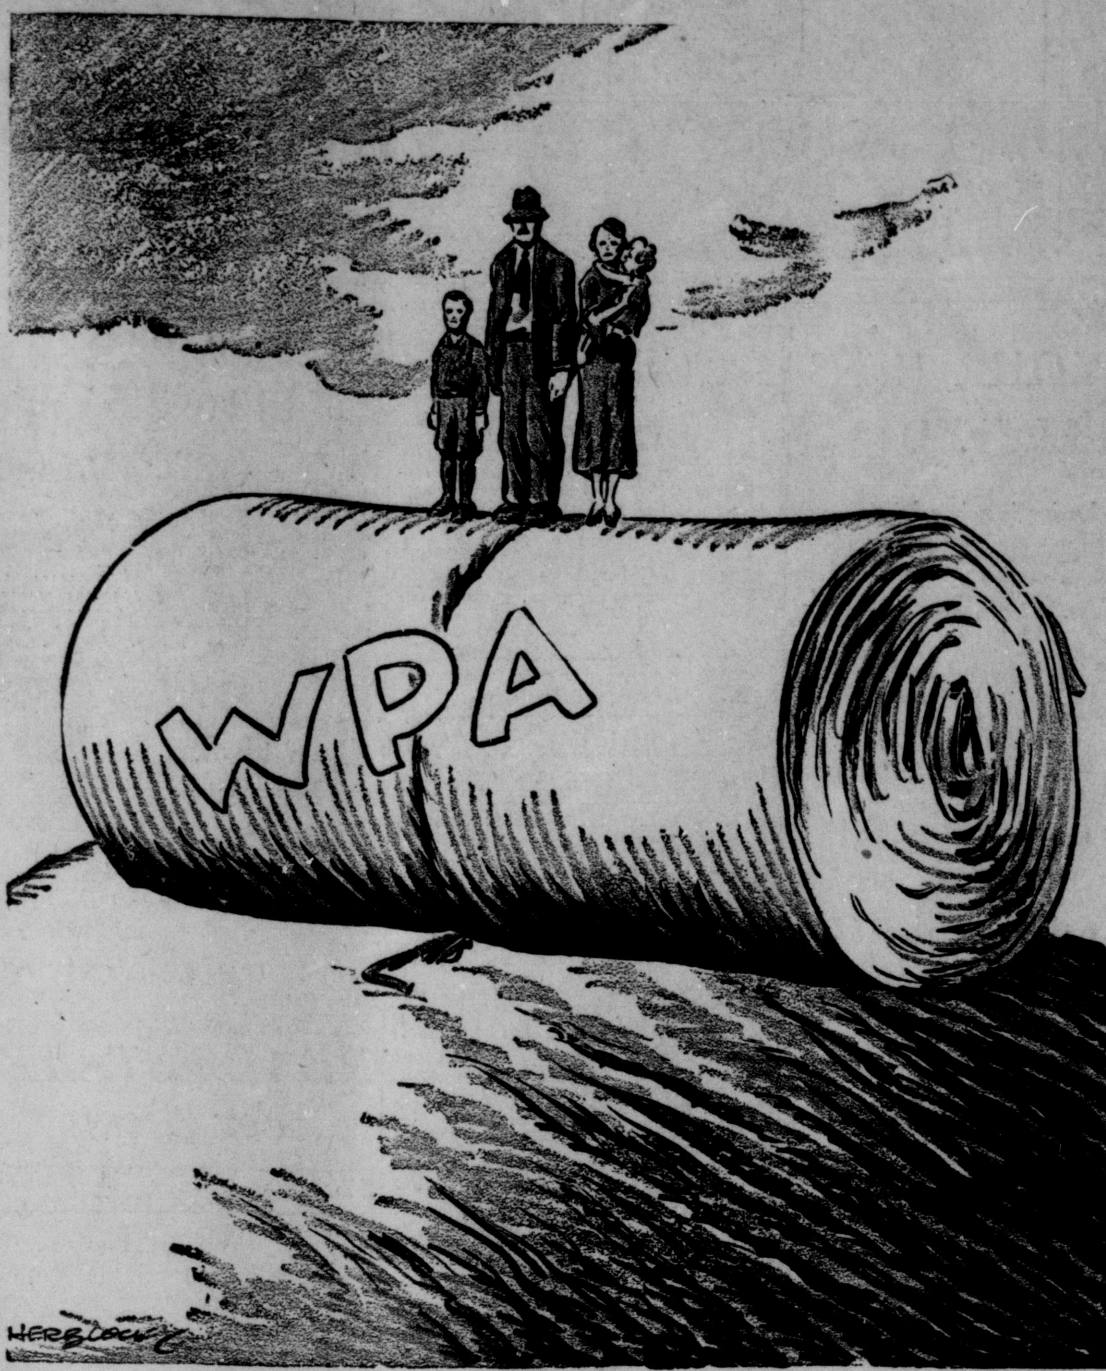

PRODUCTION RAISES WAGES

(Christmas Club Magazine)

"It is new processes which alone has made possible the increase in product per worker and the resulting gain in real wages and in general well being."

CARL SNYDER, Statistician and Economist of the Federal Board

One Family Out of Every Twelve

General Hugh S. JOHNSON SAYS

BETHANY BEACH, Del.—Now we know the difference between a "liberal" and a "conservative." A "conservative" is one who admits that there are abuses in industry, rates, the Stock Exchange, labor conditions, care of the aged and in economic conditions generally, but who doesn't want government to do anything about it. A "liberal" is a lad who also sees these things but puts his shoulder to the wheel to correct them.

This is highly important because Mr. Roosevelt announces a purpose to keep the Democratic Party "liberal" even if he has to elect "liberal" Republicans to do it.

If what Mr. Roosevelt defined as a conservative at Denton is all that he objects to, there aren't enough conservatives in this country to dust a flute. The Republican platform and campaign in 1936 not only recognized all the evils he mentioned but proposed to move against them. I don't know any important public figure who answers to the Denton definition of a conservative.

Everybody who is familiar with Mr. Roosevelt's differences with leaders in his own party knows that the issues he presented at Denton are not the cause for disagreement at all—not even remotely.

The main, if not the single issue, is not the reform of such evils as he mentioned. It is whether, on the excuse that it is necessary to reach those evils, the courts, the Congress and the state and local governments shall lose to the President a large part of their independence. It is whether to reach those evils, it is necessary to pile up unheard of burdens of debt and taxes—not to increase production—but by taxes and spending—to attempt to confiscate and redistribute existing property. It is whether by these and other methods we shall be pushed further and further toward a collectivist society ruled more and more by a single leader.

The goals, on both sides, are precisely the same and, on the Denton definition, equally "liberal." They are reemployment, greater production more evenly distributed, better protection of classes which are at an economic disadvantage—farmers, workers, the unemployed. These are the common "objectives." The only real question is whether to reach them we must change the essence of our form of government and economics and rely on the wisdom of one dominating figure, or whether we can do the same thing by corrective legislation through such popular participation in the affairs of government as we have always called democracy. That's the issue and the only one.

If only that issue could be made clear enough, quickly enough, and to enough people, Mr. Roosevelt's mis-called liberalism could not live because collectivist government and personalization of direction is not "liberal" at all. It is the exact reverse of "liberal" and all you have to do to prove that is to look at Germany, Italy and Russia—personally conducted collectivism in the extreme.

His opponents within his own party resist not his objectives but the change in government that he has attached to his objectives. They oppose that, not only in principle but because they believe that what necessarily goes with it can offset his reforms by retarding business and employment and bringing for more harm to the poor and underprivileged than all the WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The mighty thump with which Herr Hitler beat his breast at Nuremberg must have made him cough a feeble cough. Even if he failed to, there was enough quiet a-hemming (not to say snickering) behind the official diplomatic hand here to disclose the inside situation.

For, truth is, the defiance he expressed against the British threat of a North Sea blockade seemed to be bluster to cover his deepest military weakness. His claim that his Germany is now completely self-contained was good domestic political propaganda, but hardly a realistic presentation of facts.

Information seeping through unofficial channels from Hitlerland indicates der Fuhrer has developed his publicity about his new synthetic industries far more than he has developed his industries.

Competent judges here doubt that Germany could contain herself a year without an outlet to the sea.

Remarkable scientific strides have been made by the Germans in their self-contained economy, but it is an open official secret that they have not been able to make these commercially feasible.

Take the Herman Goering steel works (you could take it for very little if you had some gold). Hitler organized it to exploit ores within the reich, after Lorraine, with its rich iron ore deposits, was irretrievably lost. The Goering works is handling ore with iron content running as low as 30 per cent, while good ore runs as high as 60 per cent.

This venture is economically fantastic, but politically sound. It helps to keep unemployed Germans out of the bread lines, but it could not supply German war needs. It would not even be justifiable as a social factor, if Hitler had any foreign exchange with which to purchase foreign ore, steel or scrap.

Perhaps oil is a clearer example. Hitler has built up the synthetic process of extracting oil and gas from coal to such a surprising extent that he now is able to supply 50 per cent of normal domestic demand (expert estimate). It is a remarkable scientific fact, but the process is very costly, uneconomic and wholly incapable of supplying war needs.

The best of the German synthetic developments, they say, is rayon. Hitler has produced a new stable fibre like rayon by mixing wood fibre with wool and shoddy. The idea is to conserve wood pulp constructive legislation has cured. But there is this further question. Mr. Roosevelt's party actually did try to take steps toward clearing some of the abuses. For get for a moment that after 1936, it also took most illiberal steps away from democracy and recovery. Forget that the Democratic Party did move against those abuses and, before that, no party ever did. Can the opponents of the move toward collectivism and one-man rule convince the country that they can and will eliminate those abuses without moving in the same direction? The future trend of business and government depends on that alone.

Organization and Labor Legislation Cannot Help Labor Until the Demand for Labor Is High

The demand for labor which goes with good business and high production is labor's anchor to windward. And, as we have said, no amount of legislation or unionization, even if it reaches 100 per cent, can give wage earners adequate employment and adequate wages, unless business is good and jobs are plentiful.

New Deal Congresses have done almost every imaginable thing that could benefit labor, and a good many things that have proved detrimental. Meantime, labor's drive for organization has proceeded with unparalleled speed. You yourself have placed the membership of the C. I. O. at 3,000,000. And, if dues are paid, this should give your organization a monthly income of about $6,000,000. Besides this war chest, labor is equipped with a formidable propaganda service, consisting of hundreds of trained writers, speakers and moving picture producers. And labor has contributed heavily to the election of Mr. Roosevelt and other favored candidates.

The net result of this has been that the President and his majority in Congress have constantly, and I may say successfully, bid for labor's vote by getting behind almost every measure it has demanded. Nevertheless, in spite of all this legislation and organization, labor is still harassed by terrific unemployment and poverty. In fact it is no better off than when Mr. Roosevelt first took office, or when the C. I. O. began its great and successful organization campaign. According to the World Almanac, the average number of people unemployed was higher in 1933 than in any year in the depression—12,945,000. You yourself recently estimated unemployment at 13,000,000 and said it is still growing.

An Industrial Nation Equipped With Labor-Saving Machinery Cannot Prosper If It Goes On Producing The Same Things Year After Year.

The United States is a modern industrial nation. Its economic system is based on labor-saving machinery and low cost mass production. Obviously, such a nation cannot prosper; it cannot employ properly, or increase real wages, nor can it raise its standard of living, if it goes on making only the same things year after year. The good of labor and of all classes requires that industry shall constantly branch out into new fields of enterprise. Only by such expansion and diversification of products can we enlarge the opportunities for work and make plentiful the things which the public, including labor, needs and certainly should have.

Unfortunately many politicians and labor leaders do not seem to understand the foregoing proposition. And, like Karl Marx—who, by the way, was a typical parlor socialist in that he combined a great deal of bitterness toward industry with very little knowledge of its operation—they attribute unemployment to labor-saving machinery. The President, himself, has succumbed to this ancient and exploded fallacy.

The labor machinery produces serious local unemployment, which must be taken care of by job insurance or government work until its victims find other employment, its outstanding effect has been to reduce unemployment and raise wages and living standards. Unanswerable figures show that, in those particular industries where the adoption of labor-saving machinery has been the most rapid, the percentage of employment has risen faster than has the nation's population. And it has risen much faster than in industries which have retained slower methods of production.

This labor-saving machinery lowers the price of goods and increases the demand both for the goods themselves and the labor required to make them. Also, we should bear in mind that there are two ways to increase wages. One is to raise them directly. The other is to lower the cost of the necessities of life by increasing production.

Consequently, the rise in production and decline in prices due to American labor-saving machinery has helped labor in two ways, better living and better wages. Witness the fact that we have had the highest standard of living in the world. Witness also the improvement in wages and working conditions since Marx predicted that labor-saving machinery would enslave and impoverish the masses.

Our New Frontiers

Modern industry has already opened up new frontiers of employment which probably exceed those once provided by our public lands. And, if industry is given a fair chance to invent and produce at a profit, and is not regimented to death by bureaucrats who, feeding as they do at the public crib, are beyond the reach of the poverty they sow—these opportunities can provide an infinite number of jobs for men and women. On the other hand, if industry is not allowed to function freely and profitably, labor's future will be dark.

The other day, Mr. Roosevelt, as an alibi for the continuance of the depression, stated that the pioneering days of America, with their great opportunities for labor, are dead and gone. That is not the case. Industrial pioneering is in its infancy. And I want to repeat and emphasize the point that, if the government does not continue to throttle invention and development, electric our economic system can give labor a degree of independence and a standard of life that will exceed what we have, as much as our present standard tops that which prevailed in England's factories in the nineteenth century, and justly horrified the world.

II. Labor and the New Deal

As I see it, the reproach of the New Deal, from labor's point of view, lies mainly in one tragic blunder, in a country where so many men and women depend on industrial employment, the New Deal has struck at industry, and particularly at new enterprise. And, in so doing, it has also struck at re-employment, which is labor's most pressing need. In other words it has created a situation in which only a few very rich or rash enterprisers, or those who have a pull with the government, will run the risk of starting anything new.

Today the average enterpriser believes, with I think good reasons, that the Administration is sacrificing business, and especially new business, (and re-employment) to the political formula of winning labor's support by lambasting business. It is an old formula. And business has often deserved its punishment. But, not until Mr. Roosevelt came along, has the attack been carried on systematically and to a deeply destructive point.

Truly, if Big Business has been a menace to labor, Big Government is proving a greater one still. For, while Big Business was at least able to produce and employ, Big Government can do neither. In fact Big Government is good for nobody but big politicians and little bureaucrats—and almost 900,000 of them are now drawing pay.

I hold no brief for Big Business, nor for black sheep employers who reject the principle that, when industry makes good money, wage earners as well as stockholders should reap the advantage. But I do decidedly hold a brief for those leaders of industry, large or small, who, energized by the profit motive—the profit motive which Mr. Roosevelt considers disreputable, outside the family—work for years and spend large sums developing new processes and products which will increase the public's comfort and provide work and wages for millions. The automobile industry, founded by about fifty men, today directly and indirectly provides jobs for six million people.

Fellow Citizens: As a lifelong Democrat I find myself in a quandary, because of our direct primary system, as to who and what are Democrats and how to live up to party responsibility. Every candidate who enters our primary seems to be a law unto himself without any reference to party policy or regularity. Many enter and file as Democrats with the avowed purpose of prostituting the party.

I voted for what I considered a Democrat for state comptroller but saw a Republican win the Democratic nomination. I voted for a Democratic candidate for state treasurer, for attorney general, and member of the state board of equalization. What was the result? I voted for a lifelong Democrat for lieutenant governor but in his place I saw a man nominated who, up to two years ago, was a Republican and whose views nearly everything the Democrats have repudiated. I voted for a senator who represented the president and the administration, but a man was nominated on a platform which, according to Roosevelt, would ruin the social security act and bankrupt the state of California. This nominee has consistently advocated social systems that would overthrow our present form of government.

What is God's name is a man who truly believes in Democracy to do?

I saw a man I believed to be a Democrat openly espouse a pension plan he must have known was political and economic suicide.

What is Democracy? In the light of the primary election and the victory of those candidates who won their nomination on the Democracy ticket by the over-advocacy of this unworkable and "doomed-to-defeat" plan, does it not become necessary that these men insist that this plank be incorporated in the Democratic state platform? If not, does it not mean the betrayal of misled people who elected them? Either way it looks like the Democratic party in California has once more been sold down the river by candidates who put votes above party or principle.

Four years ago Democrats nominated a Socialist as their representative and went down to defeat. Now in this election, in most cases where they did not choose Republicans as their Democratic standard-bearers they selected men who represent a gratifying economic program which is false and surely spells defeat that is certainly well deserved.

A Bid for a Smile

When the pupils were having history lesson the teacher was feeling justly proud of them because they all seemed to be well prepared. She was quizzing Jimmy thus: "Who was the greatest general in France?" "General Foch?" "That's right. Now, name a German general." "General Hindenberg." "Very good. Now who was the American general you all know?" There was silence and then he asked: "Is it General Motors or General Electric?"
